Chiefs in Viet Nam Hold Back With Approval

By JOSEPH E. MOHAT
WASHINGTON (AP) — William J. Driver, who will guide the far-flung affairs of America's veterans, is a veteran. He is married to a veteran. He is a grateful beneficiary of the GI Bill.

Driver, 46, named by President Johnson to become the first career man to head the Veterans Administration, expressed himself today as "delighted that you can make it all the way."

A rangy 6-foot-3, 190-pound veteran of World War II and Korea, Driver looks on his new mission as more administration than innovation.

"There won't be many changes," he said. "Coming up through the echelons I've had a large share in what's happened so far. The laws and the benefit areas are up to date."

Hero From Viet Nam to Get Big Welcome

By JOHN MULLIGAN
SAUGERTIES, N.Y. (AP) — Today is "Donlon Day" in Saugerties, an old Dutch village in the Catskill Mountains where the homefolk will turn out to welcome back the defender of Nam Dong.

Both the village and the township of Saugerties have proclaimed the day because "the citizens of a greatful community have been honored by one of its own."

He is Capt. Roger H. C. Donlon, first American to win the Medal of Honor for action in South Viet Nam.

Saugerties, a community of 4,000 on the Hudson River 100 miles north of New York City, has been welcoming heroes home since some of the townsmen fought the British at Saratoga in 1777.

Capt. Donlon, 30, a tall, blond who wears the green beret of the Special Forces and a paratrooper's wings, was decorated Dec. 5 by President Johnson for directing "a successful defense of the camp" of Nam Dong. Donlon was wounded four times in a five-hour night attack July 6 by a Viet Cong battalion.

Today, a motorcade starts at the captain's home at 3 p.m. and winds through the principal streets to the Municipal Building. There, the auditorium of the combination village offices, police and fire station will be renamed for the officer — Capt. Roger H. C. Donlon Auditorium.

Next scheduled was a dinner by the Rotary and Lions clubs, at which the captain was to receive a shield-shaped plaque from the American Legion in the name of the citizens.

An evening rally was slated at the auditorium of Saugerties High, directed by his class of 1962 and featuring many of his old teachers.

The captain is a 10-year Army career man who attended West Point for a time, joined the regular Army, was commissioned from the officer's school at Ft. Benning, Ga., and served at Ft. Wainwright, Alaska, before volunteering for Viet Nam.

Invited to the motorcade along the flag-decked streets and past stores closed for the occasion were Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and Sen-elect Robert F. Kennedy and other officials.

Among those riding with Donlon will be his mother, Mrs. Marion Donlon, who said, "He's always worn my medal of honor."

Domestic Peace Corps Has 4,500 Applicants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the new domestic peace corps has received 4,500 applications, but the program will get under way with only 150 volunteers in the first training class.

Director Glen W. Ferguson of the Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA — said each candidate would be given preliminary screening and training and then would be sent to an impoverished area for four to six weeks.

By that time, Ferguson said, the volunteer should be able to decide for himself whether he is qualified for work.

Interviewed on Radio Press International's recorded program, "From the People," Ferguson said Sunday that volunteers would be permitted to give birth control information to impoverished persons if the work is part of a local program.

He said he hopes to assign 50 per cent of the volunteers to rural areas.

SCOTTS AT 74
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Pinkey Grim may be 74 and a great-grandmother, but that doesn't keep her from becoming a part of the "scooter crowd" twice a week.

She puts on blue denims and climbs onto the back of the scooter belonging to grandson Joe David Dunn each Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. It's the only transportation available at that time to take her to her art lessons. She bought her first pedal-pushers in her 74 years for the scooter rides.

Her grandson describes her as "the greatest." She doesn't backseat drive, and there's never any complaining. He considers her a real sport.

Jobless Actor Arrested for Assault on Cop

NEW YORK (AP) — A jobless actor, target of a policeman's bullet that went astray and killed a bystander, was arrested six hours after the car he was driving dragged the officer almost a block near the Empire State Building.

The actor, Edward Seamon, 32, of Manhattan, was freed in $1,000 bail Sunday as his arraignment on charges of felonious assault and leaving the scene of an accident.

Julius Oslie, 64, of Brooklyn, was killed Saturday by a bullet fired by Patrolman Patrick Crowe at the fleeing auto driven by Seamon.

Seamon was arrested early Sunday after the owner of the car, Leni Lendry, 34, who had been in the vehicle, heard a radio broadcast about it and, on the advice of her attorney, called police.

Seamon was picked up at a Greenwich Village party where he and Mrs. Lendry had gone. No action was taken against her and a second passenger in the car.

The incident occurred while Crowe was detouring traffic from the vicinity of the Empire State Building on a false report structure.

Seamon got into an argument with the patrolman and was ordered to pull over to the curb after making an obscene gesture, according to police.

Police said Crowe reached into the car to take the ignition key but Seamon sped off, dragging the officer almost a block before he finally pulled free.

Crowe then "fired" two times in the air and two times at the car, he said. One bullet struck Oslie as he emerged from a hotel on Madison Avenue near 37th Street.

Giving Myself Up Was Stupid, He Says

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — A drunken driver who surrendered to police on Christmas Eve said today he never would do it again.

"Giving myself up was stupid," said John Steward, 29.

A construction foreman, Steward began drinking with his men on Christmas Eve.

"When it came time for me to go home, I realized that I was drunk and that I was driving," he said.

"I drove to the nearest police station and told the police I was drunk. I thought they would only take my car keys away."

The police took away his keys, locked him up and didn't let him out until Christmas Day.

The next day Steward pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of drink.

Magistrate James Barwell praised his action, then fined him $112, ordered him to pay $19.60 costs — and barred him from driving for two years.

London Experiences Christmas Crime

LONDON (AP) — London this year it experienced one of the most violent Christmas crime waves in memory.

A newspaper reporter, Michael Munnely, 23, was stabbed to death Christmas morning when he tried to stop a gang of youths attacking a man with broken milk bottles. An 18-year-old butcher's assistant was charged with the murder. Twelve others were arrested for their part in the fray.

A rampaging gang, breaking shop windows as they ran through quiet streets, shot and killed Eric Yethman, 34, a West Indian tailor.

Scotland Yard was investigating other crimes, including an attempt to kill an elderly woman and a gang stabbing.

PETS ARE BIG BUSINESS
NEW YORK (UPI)—So popular are pets today that Americans are spending about $1.5 billion annually for pets, food and incidentals.

Last year they spent about $300 million for dog food alone — nearly double the money spent for baby food. F. W. Woolworth Co., the world's largest outlet for pets other than dogs and cats (which the firm doesn't sell) reports soaring sales in its 2,117 stores throughout the country.

W. L. Hammond, head of Woolworth's pet operations, says it reflects "more leisure and more money to support pets."

Last year his firm sold 800,000 tropical fish and nearly 5.5 million packages of fish and turtle food.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible To Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®. In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Priest Blasts Cardinal Over Racial Issues

and my parishioners would help defeat the proposition. I was so wrong. I should have fought it openly.

"I want to have no part in the continuing silence and lack of repentance which is daily driving away many excellent people.

"On Saturday, Nov. 14th, I was ordered to maintain a silence on racism. I chose instead a self-imposed exile from the diocese as a gesture of protest against, and rather than be a part of, the continuing evil of silence.

"I also accept my exile as a solution to an impasse between my cardinal and myself."

Emil Seliga, a layman and spokesman for the priest, said the priest would go to Chicago for a period of three to six years to do missionary work, particularly among Latin Americans.

Father Coffield, a priest in Los Angeles since his ordination 24 years ago, has been pastor of the Ascension Catholic church for three years.

Seliga said that during the enforced vacation, the priest took courses toward a doctorate at the University of Arizona and worked with Roman Catholic agencies in Chicago.

The principle organization with which he will work in Chicago will be the Inter-American Cooperative Institute. Seliga said. The priest's leave officially begins Jan. 1, he added.

"A Buddhist monk could use self-cremation as the strongest form of protest," the priest said. "It isn't open to me."

"I deeply love the Church that is trying to silence me," Father Coffield said. "I want to be obedient to her."

"The clear law of obedience is that we are not to obey when we are certain that to do so would be to sin, whether the command be given by mother or father, priest, bishop or cardinal. We can sin by silence as well as by action."

Father Coffield said he had sought guidance from priest-confessors, canon lawyers, bishops, archbishops, and even another cardinal. "He did not identify them."

The public protest was the second by a priest in the Los Angeles archdiocese this year. Earlier, the Rev. William H. Dubay made a public request to Pope Paul VI to remove Cardinal McIntyre citing what he said was his inability to speak out on civil rights matters. The priest was transferred from a predominantly Negro to a predominantly white parish within the archdiocese.

In his letter to the Pope, Father Dubay asked for Cardinal McIntyre's removal for "gross malfeasances in office" in "failing to exercise moral leadership" on racial issues.

The cardinal did not directly comment upon Father Dubay's criticism. Later, a chancery spokesman said the archdiocese endorsed an editorial in the Tidings, the archdiocesan newspaper, supporting the cardinal.

The editorial, written by Msgr. Patrick J. Roche, called Father Dubay's protest "a travesty." It said the cardinal had earlier voiced statements on the subject of civil rights.

"In those statements, and in others the Church officially has voiced strongly and without equivocation, the basis for human justice and equality," the editorial said.

Cardinal McIntyre never publicly took a stand on Proposition 13. In August, two months after the Father Dubay incident, he issued a statement with seven other Roman Catholic prelates of California condemning racial discrimination and segregation.

The statement called for "equal opportunity for employment, decent and proper housing and full participation in education facilities."

"Discrimination based solely on race, color, nationality or religion cannot be reconciled with the truth that God has created all men with equal rights and equal dignity," the statement said.

$1 Billion Damage Estimated in Floods

short of food," reported William Sowle, Civil Defense director at Yreka. A storm that dropped two feet of snow on Yreka Sunday halted helicopter flights in the area. The prediction was for continued snow today.

"We'll have to airlift supplies or evacuate soon," Sowle said. He called those isolated in the mountains "a pretty hardy lot."

About 100 passengers on two Greyhound buses found themselves stranded by highway washouts last Monday after a lunch stop at the Terrace Gardens resort 30 miles south of Garberville on U.S. 101 in California's Humboldt County and about half of them still were awaiting rescue today.

Some walked or were lifted by helicopters to Garberville and others were flown to Eureka farther north. Those who stayed spent Christmas crowded into the resort's motel quarters.

"We were a little cramped," said Bill Flynn, a Greyhound representative who was among the marooned, "and while we weren't starving there was only enough food for us to eat twice a day — at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. We didn't get fat."

Food shortage was the problem throughout the northwestern corner of California. Slick Airways has flown 120,000 pounds of foodstuffs to Eureka and scheduled another flight today with 200,000 pounds aboard a Constellation.

Six C-119 cargo planes were to fly today from McClellan Air Force Base near Sacramento to Arcata near Eureka with 21,000 pounds of telephone repair equipment, three fire trucks and four utility vehicles.

Pacific Telephone said its facilities in Northern California were damaged to the extent of almost $1 million during the Christmas week storm. It had about 550 repairmen at work on the 24-hour-a-day job of restoring telephone communications.

In Del Norte County at the north end of the 1,200-mile-long California coast about 3,000 persons either lost their homes completely or sustained major damage, Red Cross representative Karl Mahler reported. The relief agency moved a majority to emergency shelters, but many persons chose to stick it out in their damaged homes, Mahler said.

"We're sending in meals," he said. The reluctant ones may yet have to move out. "They have no good drinking water, no sanitation, no heat."

In Oregon the State Board of Health began getting queries on how to prevent typhoid fever. The board said it had plenty of vaccine on hand. The Oregon State Police reported their operations had returned to normal.

One of the closing rescue operations in Idaho was the airlift of 31 persons from a remote

A spokesman for a Senate Small Business subcommittee headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., told a reporter it will meet shortly after Congress convenes Jan. 4 to consider senatorial requests for an investigation.

Long has been an outspoken critic of the differing patent policies employed by various government agencies under special laws.

Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., both contend that the new NASA policy permits its contracting officers to negotiate patent waivers at the time they sign research contracts, thus giving away patent rights before even learning what they may be.

Morse has advised Long's subcommittee that this is contrary to both existing law and the Constitution.

The forthcoming Congress session also promises investigations on many other fronts. The financial dealings of Bobby Baker, alleged "snooping" on government employees by their bosses, and the controversial contract for the development and production of the F111 warplane, formerly known as the TFX, are among investigative problems awaiting the new Congress.

The House has a less busy schedule of probes ahead. Its main one will be a study of soaring costs of the new Sam Rayburn House Office Building. Originally intended to cost $10 million or less, it is winding up as a more than $95 million project — the costliest public building in history.

Santa Anita Opens With Record Crowd

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
A huge crowd of 70,023 — largest race track crowd of the season in the United States — turned out for the opening of Santa Anita Saturday and signaled a banner year for horse racing in 1965.

The crowd, which bet $4,123,918 on the nine-race card, saw Gummo, $14.80, win the $68,175 California Breeders' Champion Stakes, and Native Diver, $6.80, take the $23,350 Palos Verdes Handicap.

Gummo beat the favored Hempen by one length. Native Diver scored by 2 1/2 lengths over Viking Spirit.

Three stakes are scheduled at the Arcadia, Calif., track this holiday week. The $20,000 Las Flores Handicap, in which Affectionately is expected to start, will be run Thursday. The $25,000 San Gabriel Handicap is slated for New Year's Day and the $25,000 Malibu Stakes for Saturday.

The Malibu, regarded as a prep for the $100,000 Charles H. Strub Stakes, is for 4-year-olds at seven furlongs and may bring together Roman Brother, Hill Rise and Real Good Deal.

Also slated Saturday is the $20,000 Orange Bowl Handicap at Tropical Park in Florida and the $10,000 Mississippi Handicap at the Fair Grounds in New Orleans.

Tronado, surprise winner of one of the divisions of the Christmas Handicap at Tropical, is expected to top the Orange Bowl field. The race is considered a final prep for the $50,000 Tropical Park Handicap.

Sparkling Johnny, $8, beat the favored Beaupey by one-half length in the Miami Beach Handicap at Tropical last Saturday. Splash Splash, $3.60, and Bay Phantom, $7.60, won the split divisions of the Sugar Bowl Handicap at the Fair Grounds.

Herb Fitzgibbon In Hot Seat At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Herb Fitzgibbon of Garden City, N.Y., has the hot seat in today's round of the Sugar Bowl Tennis Tourney.

Fitzgibbon faced defending champion Ham Richardson of Dallas, the No. 1 seed again this year, in the quarter-finals.

Fitzgibbon barely made the quarter-finals. He defeated New Orleans' Frank Lamotte 8-6, 6-4 in the opening round Sunday.

Richardson, meanwhile, breezed to a 6-2, 6-0 triumph over Australia's Graham Primrose, a student at Mississippi State.

The major upset came when teen-aged Jim Beste of Baton Rouge, La., dumped No. 4 seed Marty Riessen of Chicago, 6-3, 7-5.

Beste took on Andy Lloyd of Shreveport, La., and Trinity University today Lloyd pulled off Sunday's other upset, defeating Juan Pasarell of Puerto Rico, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Frank Froehling, the No. 2 seed, won in straight sets, bumping off Lester Sack of Clarkdale, Miss., 6-4, 6-3 while third seeded Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., made short work of Mike Belkin of Miami, Fla. 6-1, 6-1.

College Explained to Canon City High

Last Tuesday was "graduate day" at Canon City High School with 62 graduates of the school now attending colleges and universities, being on hand to answer questions and explain college life to students.

On Wednesday morning, a Christmas musical concert was presented by the Canon City High School band and choir with special honors given to Richard Nehring, now a senior at Valparaiso College.

Nehring was given a lifetime pass to all CCHS activities in recognition as the first Rhodes Scholar to graduate from the high school. He was ranked first in his class when he was graduated in 1961, and was winner of the scholarship, Saturday, Dec. 19.

Ft. Carson Chief Visits Canon City

Maj. Gen. Autrey J. Maroun, commanding general of Ft. Carson and of the 5th Infantry Division, Mechanized, made a "social" call on Canon City last Wednesday.

He met with Chamber of Commerce and city officials, and was the guest of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at the Riverside Dining Room, and visited the Royal Gorge area, and the Holy Cross Abbey.

Gen. Maroun was accompanied by his aide, Capt. James Fox.

"held his father back from continuing his punching prowess."

MacNeil gave a different version. "Negri barged into my dressing room, insulting me. He actually punched me once in the stomach and kicked me twice in the shins, as my son tried to hold him and push him out of the room."

Negri apologized to the audience, saying the performance had been canceled because of "unusual, offensive behavior by baritone MacNeil toward his colleagues and the public."

Alamosa Opens Cage Tourney

ALAMOSA, Colo. (UPI) — Oklahoma Central tangles with Western New Mexico today to kick off the fourth annual Tour of the Nation Basketball Tournament in chilly Alamosa.

The game, scheduled for early afternoon, is the first of four slated for the eight-team, beginning first round action.

Washington University will play Yankton College to complete afternoon action. Evening play will begin with defending champion St. Joseph's of New Mexico against William Jewell and conclude with Chadron State College versus host Adams State.

Walked-Over Car Gets $60 Damage

Someone who decided to walk over a car rather than around it did an estimated $60 damage to the vehicle over the weekend, police reported.

George E. Kammerer, 2126 Pleasant Place, told police his car was parked in the 80 block of E. Pikes Peak Avenue between 11:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Kammerer said that while it was parked there someone had walked over the car, a 1960 foreign model, and had done $60 worth of damage. He said there were footprints on the top and rear, but that no dents were found on the hood.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The volume of Scotch sold in the United States has increased more than ten-fold in 30 years, according to Schenley Import Co.

67 Guerrillas Killed in New Viet Nam Action

U.S. Army helicopter crewmen hit by small arms fire.

Ten other Americans were reported wounded in other actions in the Mekong delta Sunday. Two were reported in serious condition.

Capt. Robert W. Butler of Frederick, Md., who went into action at Dai Ngai, said of the government success: "This is as good a Christmas present as I could have wished for."

A radio he had carried on his back was smashed by a machine-gun bullet. He was not hurt.

The attack began when militiamen in the ricefield hamlet beside the Mekong River called for help after exchanging fire with the guerrillas.

Thirty-six helicopters, half of them armed with rockets and heavy machine guns, dropped on top of the Viet Cong position, discharging two battalions in seven quick waves. Air force planes poured bombs and cannon fire into the area. About 650 government troops took part.

Viet Cong strength was estimated at two battalions under the command of a major general. It was not known whether he was among the dead.

Government troops were still recovering bodies today as sporadic fighting continued. The heavy Communist casualties were attributed partly to a new type of fuse on the government's bombs. These burst in the air and scatter shrapnel over a wide area.

Vietnamese officers speculated that the Communists had been massing for an attack and were caught off guard.

Captured weapons included five 50-caliber machine guns, three recoilless cannons and three mortars.

In the town of Mo Cai, 50 miles southwest of Saigon, a Viet Cong grenade exploded in a cafe, wounded four Americans and 15 Vietnamese and killed a 12-year-old Vietnamese girl.

One of the Americans, Van Bucher, the son of Jules N. Bucher of the U.S. Aid mission in Saigon, was reported in critical condition. Bucher is in his early 20s.

Li Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of the Vietnamese forces, issued a holiday message of thanks to U.S. forces in South Viet Nam. The message warned a little the chilly relations between Khanh and U.S. authorities in Saigon.

Khanh last week criticized U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor for demanding that the Vietnamese generals restore pull power to the civilian government.

"On behalf of all the members of the Republic of Viet Nam's armed forces," Khanh said in his message. "I bring to our American comrades in arms our warmest season's greetings and our grateful appreciation for what they have been, are and will be doing to assist us in our struggle for the defense of freedom."

He addressed the message to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam. However, Khanh and his military colleagues showed no sign of acceding to American demands that they reinstate the legislative High National Council and release political prisoners they arrested in the purge Dec. 2.

All but eight of the Americans wounded Thursday in the terrorist bombing of an American officers' hotel in Saigon have been released from the hospital. Those still in the hospital were reported in good condition and it was expected they would be released soon.

Woman Hospitalized
After Pill Overdose

A Colorado Springs woman was in fair condition at Penrose Hospital today after apparently taking an overdose of pills, police reported.

Police said the woman, 29 years old, had apparently taken an overdose of sleeping pills at approximately 1 p.m. Sunday, and had been brought to Penrose Hospital by E & E Ambulance at 3 p.m. the same day.

Detectors of the department said the woman was apparently depressed over troubles with relatives, according to the report.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Barbara McColl, 1003 Rainier Dr.

Collectives in Russia May Be Broken Up

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
A basic tenet of the Marxist-Leninist philosophy is that each member of a Communist state shall produce according to his ability and receive according to his need.

And while no Soviet leader would dare admit it, it is this theory basic to communism that now is undergoing a serious overhaul by Communist leaders who see their own national growth rates declining as the United States economy, already the world's largest, becomes one of the world's fastest-growing.

The Soviets' forced departure from accepted theory is one of the reasons for Red Chinese charges that the Russians are betraying communism.

It is interesting that many students of the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London agree with the Red Chinese and see European communism inevitably moving toward capitalism.

It currently is estimated that U.S. production of goods and services jumped $40 billion in the last year, bringing the total for the year to about $624 billion. The total is more than twice the comparative figure for the Soviet Union, and the one-year U.S. growth rate is believed to be more than that achieved by the Soviet Union in the last two years combined, and possibly in the last three years.

As they see the United States economy increase its lead, Soviet leaders are striving desperately to pinpoint their failings. The more glaring ones have not been hard to find.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda, for example, recently reported 10,000 complaints in a single year against poor workmanship in Leningrad industrial plants. Specifically, it cited the fact that 28 large generators manufactured by one of the Soviet Union's largest plants "had gone out of commission."

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in the closing months before his ouster, disclosed that inferior consumer goods had accumulated on warehouse shelves to the tune of $2.75 billion.

Loose flooring in the railroad cars of the creaky Soviet transportation system, left a golden

Two Car Thefts Reported by Sheriff

Two car thefts were reported by the sheriff's office Sunday. Don D. Frederick, 220 N. Willow St., told Deputy Sheriff Larry Holten that he took his car, a 1958 four-door Chevrolet to Van's Garage, 425 Juanita St., Thursday to have some work done on it, and that it had been stolen from there.

The vehicle has a blue-grey top, license ED-2295 and ID-F-58J184635. It is valued at $650.

The second incident was reported by George Chisman, 2500 E. Boulder St., who said a 1955 two-door green Chevrolet was taken from his lot. The license number of the car is KB-8617.

Valuable Coat Reported Stolen

A coat valued at $150 was taken from a coat rack in a local cafeteria Sunday, police reported.

Elizabeth Boinson, 311 N. Union St., told police she hung her coat on the rack in Furr's Cafeteria, 2200 E. Pikes Peak Ave., at 3:15 p.m. Sunday while she was there with a friend. She said when she came back at 3:40 p.m. the coat was gone.

The coat was described as being brown and white with a tweed texture, and it had no color, weekend, police reported.

Canon City in Crash

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard M. Sammon who moved last August from Canon City to make their home at Cathedral City, Calif., have informed Canon City friends of their involvement in a two-car collision last week.

Mrs. Sammon suffered a fractured shoulder, and the Rev. Sammon incurred bruises, abrasions, and torn ligaments. They are reported to be getting along well. Neither was hospitalized.

Canon City Bank Head

Bryon E. Totten, president of the First National Bank of Canon City, returned home last Wednesday from General Rose Memorial Hospital in Denver.

Totten recently underwent heart surgery at the hospital and has been recuperating there until he was released to be home for Christmas.

trail behind them as they moved grain from the collectives to the processing centers. And on the collectives, too often the man who plowed saw no connection between himself and the man who planted and the man who later harvested.

Private plots granted to the peasants for their own use already have been increased in size and there is the further likelihood that unprofitable collectives also will be broken up.

These would be reduced to acreages about the size of a low farm and, hopefully, be worked in the same manner, by individuals following through on each phase—a further affront to the Red Chinese Marxist-Leninist purists.

Tax Forms Soon to Flood U.S. Mails

DENVER (UPI) — Colorado residents soon will find their mailboxes, once filled with Christmas cards, bulging with tax forms.

Federal and state officials used their pre-Christmas time busily preparing tax forms for 700,000 residents and 90,000 businesses. Special income tax forms will be mailed to this number before the end of the year.

State Revenue Director Hugh C. Weed Jr. predicted gross collections to the state would total over $100 million for the first time. Edward Grimes, acting director of the district internal Revenue Service office, estimated the federal agency would receive $1.3 billion from the state.

Filipinos Angry Over U.S. Bases

MANILA (UPI) — Senate President Ferdinand Marcos called today for immediate renegotiation of the Philippine-U.S. military bases agreement in view of agitation here over the shooting of Filipino trespassers by U.S. sentries.

Three Filipino congressmen were reported today to have urged the closing down of all American military installations in the country and the recall of U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr.

Their reaction followed a demonstration Sunday in Angeles City, adjacent to the U.S. Air Force's Clark Field base during which some 3,000 demonstrators waved anti-American placards and shouted for the recall of "ugly Americans."

SOS Means to Them
There Is No Problem

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — An Air Force helicopter crew spotted an SOS in the snow at a farm. An Air Force snow vehicle carried sheriff's men to the farm where the surprised owners, bachelor brothers William and Olaf Jorgenson, assured the would-be rescuers they had no problems.

Chance had formed snow, some farm implements and patches of bare ground into an SOS.

Malawi Charges Tanzanian Plot

BLANTYRE, Malawi (AP) — The Malawi News, official organ of Premier Hastings Banda's ruling Malawi Congress party, accused neighboring Tanzania today of backing two former Malawi Cabinet ministers in plans to invade the country.

The editorial accused Tanzania of setting up screening arrangements at customs posts to direct supporters of the rebel ex-ministers to training camps in Dar es Salaam.

JAPANESE EDITOR TOUR GAZETTE — Mr. Shigeru Kobayashi of Japan, (right) a participant in the foreign Leader Exchange Program of the United States Department of State, today toured through the Gazette Telegraph. Mr. Kobayashi is managing editor of Yamanashi Nichinichi Shimbun. He plans to visit newspapers, magazine and broadcasting companies and a leading school of journalism to better understanding of Japanese-American relations. Shown with Mr. Kobayashi are Mr. Tom Saito (left), U.S.

Polaris Submarines Cruise Off China
WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Navy Polaris submarine is now roaming the seas off the Asia mainland within rocket range of Red China.
The Defense Department has confirmed that the submarine Daniel Boone has been deployed in the far western Pacific.
The Boone's 16 nuclear-tipped missiles, which have a range of 1,800 miles, could reach half of China. The ship later will be refitted with new 2,800-mile missiles.
Six other Polaris submarines are expected to join the Boone on regular assignment in Asian waters.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Old-timer Reginald Denny returns to movies with a character role in "Cat Ballou" starring Jane Fonda.

Two Bodies Removed From Plane Wreck
PHILIP, S. D. (AP) — The wreckage was found in a remote area about 15 miles south of here late Friday. The pilot radioed Thursday night that he was lost.
Wreckage was scattered over an area of about 100 yards. A Civil Air Patrol plane equipped with skis landed at the scene.
Maier left Mandan, N. D., late Thursday afternoon for a flight to Phoenix. Maier intended to stop at Grand Junction, Colo.
The plane belonged to Western Air Sales Corp., of Phoenix.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: Why should we pray about world peace? Is not the Director of this universe qualified to the job without the prayers of limited (though well-meaning) Christians? How can you tell that without prayers, things would have been different, supposedly worse? C. O. V.

ANSWER: I pray for world peace because the Bible tells us to. Peace is a symptom of things being set right in the world, the cause of world unrest lies much deeper. The world is full of unrest, confusion and conflict because we have not given the Prince of Peace His rightful place in the world.

It is interesting to note that during the thirty three years of Christ's sojourn on earth historians say there were no major wars. Although Christ was not accepted by all, just the fact that He was upon earth, had a serene effect upon civilization. What if each of us were to declare Him our Savior, and follow Him in word and in deed? This world would be turned into a heaven upon earth.

But prophecy indicates that no such general acceptance will take place. Jesus said that at the time of His coming there would be war, hatred, and abounding iniquity. Some day peace will come, but the world will be purged by judgment, and evil men will be removed from the scene. Then righteousness and peace will reign in the world.

QUESTION: Recently I went forward in a confession of faith and was baptized. Am I saved? I love the church and can hardly wait to go back for services, and I do feel a lot different. But I don't feel that a miracle happened—no magic at all. —A. S.

ANSWER: Your relationship to God is such an intimate and personal matter that it hardly behooves anyone to make a judgment which you yourself must ultimately make.

However, I must confess that when I accepted Christ, I felt no "magic", or that a great miracle had happened. It was some weeks before I was even aware of the change that had been wrought in my life. But as I look back upon that experience, it is clear that a miracle "did" happen.

You gave at least two evidences of being "saved". First, you say you love the church. The Bible says, "We know we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren." A love for the church, especially "not being able to wait to go back for services" is not the experience of most unbelievers. Then you say that you feel a lot different. The Bible says, "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature." If your desires are to please God and to glorify His name, rather than to please yourself and to live selfishly, I would consider that a strong evidence that you have received Christ.

But make sure you have received Him, for that is the Biblical condition for being a child of God.

Individualism and Conservatism

Let us understand the differences between the conservative and the individualist position.

The conservative says: We do not want foreign competitors to take our business. Therefore, let us pass laws to protect our business.

The individualist says: We do not want foreign competitors to take our business. Therefore, let us be so competitive that we win the competitive struggle.

The conservative says: We do not want foreigners to come into this country to lower our standards. Therefore, let us pass laws to limit immigration.

The individualist says: We do not want foreigners to come into this country to lower our standards. Therefore, let us raise our standards and let anyone, foreign or otherwise, measure up to those standards by his own efforts.

The conservative says: We do not want theft. Therefore, let us pass laws to prevent others from stealing.

The individualist says: We do not want theft. Therefore, let us discipline ourselves in all ways so that we do not steal.

The conservative says: We do not want government passing laws which would interfere with our businesses. Therefore, let us pass a law to prevent the government from such interference.

The individualist says: We do not want government passing laws which would interfere with our businesses. Therefore, let us conduct our businesses so well that no government regulation is considered.

The conservative says: We do not want government taxing us for programs which we disapprove. We will only approve of taxation for programs we approve.

The individualist says: We do not want government taxing us for any program whatever. We will pay our own way and provide our own services.

The conservative says: We want everyone to love America. Therefore, we will make patriotism mandatory, compel allegiance to the flag and throw all traitors in jail.

The individualist says: We want everyone to love America. Therefore, we will make love of country a desirable goal, inspire adherence to American ideals, and make loyalty to truth our objectives.

The conservative says: We deplore waste in government. Therefore, we demand that government spend our money only in ways that are fully accountable.

The individualist says: We deplore waste in government. Therefore, we do not trust government to do our spending for us. Instead, we seek freedom laws to limit government.

The conservative says: We deplore the force of communism. Therefore, we will employ any amount of force necessary to control communists.

The individualist says: We deplore the force of communism. Therefore, we will not descend to the level of the communists by using it.

The conservative says: The socialists are unreasonable and selfish, trying to make gains through the wealth other people have earned. Therefore, we will use the wealth others have earned in various programs which are worthwhile and which will encourage individual responsibility.

The individualist says: The socialists are unreasonable and selfish, trying to make gains through the wealth other people have earned. Therefore, we will permit all persons to keep whatever wealth they have, for this is the way of reason and of true self-responsibility.

The conservative says: We deplore low morals and pornography. Therefore, we will set up censorship bureaus in which only what we approve can be made available.

The individualist says: We deplore low morals and pornography. Therefore, we will avoid these things ourselves and seek to educate in the field of morality and good taste.

It seems to us that the difference between the conservative position and the individualist position is often misunderstood. The position of this paper favors individualism.

Camouflage

Nearly every human failure is more excusable than the mammoth efforts we make to keep them from being discovered.

Automation Calls for Better Brains

Technically speaking, automation has a fairly narrow application. The word was put into use only a few years ago to indicate the process of making machines do the human work of observation, decision making and control. However, in general the word has been applied to the process of tool making. For in a real sense, every labor-saving device ever developed has made some process of labor less burdensome and in some ways more automatic or more simple.

In the precise usage originally intended, automation meant the control device which would instruct another machine when to begin operating, when to stop operating, and possibly what to do while it was operating.

In a general sense even such broadly practical innovations as the wheel, the lever, the screw, the drill, the press, are all automated devices in that machines take over certain functions that can be performed by men.

The advance of the machine tool industry and specifically of the control and data processing machines and machine tools, has awakened a cult of fear.

There are those who cry out in alarm over all automatic or automated devices, claiming that if we continue in this method, we will cause massive unemployment; that machines will end up doing all the work and we'll be sitting around with no income, slowly starving to death.

Others, who take a far more optimistic view, imagine men supported in idleness while machines do all the work. In this view, no one starves, but there would be nothing for people to do anyway.

Thus, one picture imagines starvation and unemployment while the other presumes great masses of consumer goods with men reduced to nothing but idleness and luxury.

Actually, although automation does lead to dislocations of employment, the fact is that there is so much work to be done in this world that the introduction of machine or electronic controls tends to expand total employment, not to reduce it.

We are only now beginning to get to a place in our technology where all the work that ought to be done can be thought of as within the realm of the possible.

So, the statistics reveal a mounting demand for skilled workers and greater and greater demand upon anyone capable of being trained so that he can fit into the productive world of the future.

To offset the gloom which the cult of fear over automation inspires, we'd like to suggest that automation is leading to a boom in certain lines of endeavor.

For instance, office workers are in demand, particularly those who understand or can be taught machine management and operation. Trained secretaries are always in scarce supply. And data processing experts are gobbled up as fast as they can be prepared for their tasks.

Service industries are expanding on all fronts. Retail clerking is becoming a more important profession. There's a dearth of personnel in virtually every branch of medicine and medical care. Construction work has not yet reached its peak.

Transportation problems haven't been solved and there's a great future in travel and recreational activities.

The Local Scene

Florence, Colorado

By RUFUS L. PORTER

I have just received some data from the Florence Chamber of Commerce and much of it is worth passing on. The area was mapped by Lieutenant Zebulon Pike in 1806 and was visited by the Long expedition in 1820. The first settlement was established as a trapper and Indian trading post by a French trader named Maurice LeDaux in the late 1830's. On Christmas day, 1849, during LeDaux's absence, the entire settlement was wiped out by marauding Indians.

In the 1860's farms and orchards were established around a village when the Union and Fremont ditch companies were formed and irrigation was introduced. In 1862 the first oil well was drilled by A. M. Cassedou. He struck good oil at 50 feet, thus putting the area on the map as the second oil-producing region in America and in the world. Florence is now the oldest continuously producing oil district in the world. It is also the only place known to produce both oil and coal from the same field, and it has been doing this steadily since the first coal claims were staked more than 80 years ago.

The town was surveyed in 1872 by Senator James A. McCandless and named for his second oldest daughter. By 1890 Florence was a thriving community, surrounded by prosperous irrigated farms and orchards, by many oil wells and coal mines and cattle ranches. Then came the great Cripple Creek gold discovery and Dave Moffat's narrow-gauge railroad, up Phantom Canon to the goldfields. Florence and Cripple Creek. A mill was built near Florence and 1,200 tons per day of Cripple Creek Victor ore was milled there. The old mill tailings dump is still visible near the highway. This mill operated until the railroad was torn out in 1919, although the tonnage was not so great after the standard-gauge Midland Terminal and the Cripple Creek Short Line railroads were built into the district from Colorado City and the city's mills proved to be more successful and more efficient in gold recovery.

The coal boom lasted through World War One, when mining started to slow down, and has gone into a rapid decline since World War Two, but there is an estimated untapped coal reserve in the area of 800 million tons. Many of the oil wells have been in continuous production for more than 90 years. The first oil refinery in Colorado was built in Florence. It was moved to Denver in the '30s, but 30,000 barrels of oil are still shipped annually from the nation's second oldest field. And 180 miners are still digging coal in the area, mostly from family operated mines.

But whenever one industry went into a slump, something has always come along to save Florence. Her fame as a fruit and cattle growing area has continued unabated and the town has enjoyed a slow but steady growth.

In the late '90s the Ideal Cement Company built its Portland Cement Plant six miles east of Florence and has been in continuous production ever since. The modern, expanded plant is now one of the largest in the country with a production of 7,500 barrels per day.

There is a vermiculite plant in Florence and a modern fiberboard plant which was built four miles east of town about 10 years ago by the Fiberboard Paper Products Corporation and which produces gypsum-type wall board and employs 30 people.

There is good fishing and there are many scenic attractions in the Florence area. It is a friendly place to visit, or live in. I mined coal south of Florence many, many years ago. There were hundreds of mines and thousands of miners in the region then.

I will close by quoting a couple of paragraphs from the Chamber of Commerce bulletin: "Florence is the survivor of

Shocking Demand

By ROSALIE M. GORDON

The run-in, several week ago, between FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and the Rev. Martin Luther King brought forth a demand which, to say the least, was shocking, coming as it did from so-called "civil rights" leaders in the Congress for Racial Equality — CORE. A CORE statement maintained that for many years the FBI was "extremely lax in implementing existing legislation and protecting the civil rights of Negroes and CORE workers throughout the nation."

It is inconceivable that the CORE leaders are so ignorant of the FBI's functions that they could make such a statement. Therefore, it would seem that they are asking that the FBI become a national police force which will be prosecutor, enforcer of legislation, and "rights" gendarme all rolled into one. Such a notion, of course, is completely alien, and always has been, to the free American system and to the FBI itself.

WHAT IS THE FBI

The FBI is an investigative agency — nothing more, nothing less — as its title states: the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Its duty is to investigate, to report its findings to the Justice Department, or to the courts and the Congress when so requested. It is not the duty of the FBI to prosecute. Under our system that is the duty of the courts — local, state and federal — and the Justice Department. It is not the duty of the FBI to "implement legislation." That is the duty of the Congress which passes the legislation and whatever agencies, such as the court and the attorney general, which the Congress designated to implement its acts. It is not the duty of the FBI to protect the civil rights of Negroes, CORE workers or anybody else. That is the duty of local and state law enforcement agencies and the courts.

THE DANGER

If ever the FBI starts "implementing legislation" or "protecting the rights" of every disaffected group according to that group's interpretation of legislation and rights, we will be well on our way to a Nazi Gestapo or a communist police state in which the biggest sufferers would be the minorities represented by so-called "civil rights" leaders who now demand that the FBI take on functions it does not want, which it does not have under the law, and which are the very reverse of the diffused, impartial and free American system of justice.

While the Communist Party toils day and night to make this a "soviet America," this administration keeps itself busy by declaring a "war on poverty," and by touting a "great society." Our government's failure to take any measures to halt the spread of communism in the United States is beyond belief. John Stormer, author of "None Dare Call It Treason," says, "There is much to be done if America is to block communist domination of the world. Much of the work is up to you. First, you must educate yourself. Then, alert and educate others. Stay informed — and start to act. Join with others who are already well-organized for the battle against communism."

Wit and Whimsy

The father played possum while his youngsters tried their best to rouse him from an afternoon nap to take them for an auto ride. Finally his five-year-old daughter pried open one of his eyelids, peered carefully and then reported: "He's still in there."

gold, coal and oil booms and busts. Today, many of its residents work in Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Canon City.

"Steady growth has been the city's greatest post-war achievement. New housing, increased business and industrial activity and a steady flow of new residents have resulted in a stabilized economy. Its wonderful climate and scenic location place Florence near the top of the list of cities with excellent livability conditions."

"SOFT"

To the Editor:

One of the greatest crimes is our "soft" attitude toward communism-socialism.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, has repeatedly warned: "We are at war with communism and the sooner every red-blooded American realizes this, the safer we will be."

The Communist Party held a meeting last month (after the elections) and decided to launch a new recruiting drive. They have singled out the following areas: the entire South, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Primarily their targets are: The Negroes, trade unions, students and young working people.

Our country has been appealing to the Communists for 20 years. The measure of their progress is reflected in race riots, union strikes, and students demonstrations. We can expect more of all of these in these areas named.

While the Communist Party toils day and night to make this a "soviet America," this administration keeps itself busy by declaring a "war on poverty," and by touting a "great society." Our government's failure to take any measures to halt the spread of communism in the United States is beyond belief.

John Stormer, author of "None Dare Call It Treason," says, "There is much to be done if America is to block communist domination of the world. Much of the work is up to you. First, you must educate yourself. Then, alert and educate others. Stay informed — and start to act. Join with others who are already well-organized for the battle against communism."

IMPARTIALITY

To the Editor:

Your editorial "Ad For Maid May Be Illegal" brings to mind at least one solution to the upcoming dilemma of how to advertise for what you want without discriminating.

For the tired executive who may wish to hire a female secretary without showing partiality toward sex, I offer one method, to wit: Place an ad under "Help Wanted" and state: "Executive of large corporation desires the service of a secretary to aid in administrative tasks. PREFER IT WEAR SKIRTS.

EXPRESSED IDEAS

To the Editor:

So Mr. Carter didn't like my long letter! Although you explained the reasons for this very well, Mr. Editor, I cannot resist asking him, "Why did you bring up so many fallacies — misconceptions?" As stated in the editorial, a denial cannot be just a "taint" so it must indicate why a statement is wrong, and that takes words, and words take space. It takes words because so often the same idea must be expressed in different ways, with different words, because each reader has his own definitions, and because so many words of our English language have different meanings, sometimes contradictory meanings, according to usage.

As there seems to be some quibbling over terminology, and I may be at fault in using words that have varying meanings and shades of meanings, I am reminded of what history now shows. It is now an accepted fact that the atom-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki was most pathetically unnecessary. Why? Because of carelessness in translating the Japanese word "mokusatsu" as meaning "ignore" instead of giving it the correct meaning, "withholding comment until a decision has been made" which indicated that the Japanese officials were considering our ultimatum of surrender.

My intended meaning in the use of "illegitimate" in referring to decisions by the "packed" Supreme Court is suggested by definition no. 4 in my dictionary for the word "legitimate": "in accordance with the laws of reasoning, logically inferable, logical," as one of the definitions. I could think of no other word to express my antipathy for decisions based upon expediency as acknowledgments of indebtedness to the appointee (and his party) by the appointee! To me, such decisions ARE "illogical" hence "illegitimate" because they are not based upon the INTENT of the Constitution but instead take advantage of ambiguities or omission — "loopholes" — in our Constitution. A series of such "illegitimate" decisions can result in establishing no other descriptive term for the Court than "illegitimate."

Further, I do not consider a Supreme Court packed with politicians with practically no judicial experience (as compared to earlier courts) as legitimate. The door has been opened for untold and unlimited decisions of expediency. When one sees a fire starting, endangering lives as well as property, he doesn't quietly say to those in danger, "I think something is burning" — he SOUNDS "Fire" to get their attention, to shock them into action to take steps to save themselves!

From correspondence of the time of the formation of this federation of sovereign states and its earlier administrations I have concluded that the INTENT of the Constitution was that a President would have the CHARACTER to be honest with the country — with the sovereign states making up the federation, and thus would appoint to the high office of Supreme Court justice only those of unimpeachable character who distinguished themselves on the bench for many years, preferably going from the lower to the successively higher courts because of exceptional merit.

Mr. Carter has a right to be alarmed — "If the Supreme Court is not legitimate, then nothing is" — for by its decisions he and his kind are being encouraged and aided in taking us ALL down the socialist road to destruction! With decisions of expediency by our Supreme Court, NOTHING is any more guaranteed to us — our freedoms, our right to hold and control (own) property, our right to choose our friends, our associates, our employees. We no longer own our property — we are merely occupants as long as we pay the arbitrarily assessed taxes and use it as zoning boards and the federal government decree. We no longer own our businesses (especially if we have fallen for a federal small business loan!) but are permitted to operate them as long as we pay corporation income taxes, collect taxes for the federal government, pay the wages dictated by the government and are bullied into paying by unions!

Have we become a nation of self-kidders? Reading the reports of drug manufacturers of total national sales I am wondering if we are becoming a nation of "dopes"! That leads to the question, "Which were we first — did self-kidding lead to doping ourselves with tranquilizers, etc., or did a gradual increase in the use of these drugs lead us into the self-kidding?"

POWER STRUGGLE

To the Editor:

Such a struggle for power in the national party of the outs. One wonders if it is east versus west? Liberal against conservative? Worldism versus nationalism? Socialism against free enterprise? Welfareism versus individual self-support? Fantasy against reality? Deficit financing versus pay-as-you-go financing? Reliance on government against self-reliance? These are some of the things that come to my mind when I endeavor to analyze the problems and differences within said party.

As it is almost impossible to make a clean-cut decision, it keeps running through my mind, "What does a liberal and moderate party do for us that the national party that is in has not already done for us," for 30 to 50 years?

Responsible Image?

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

To begin with, let's not forget that an image is an imitation of the real thing, a reflection or an illusion of the real thing. Next, a few bills sneaked through Congress which could have been stopped easily by politicians who dared to take a chance on the wrath of the small-time bureaucrats — about two and a half million of them. On a per capita basis, both voter registration and voter turnout dropped off. Finally, the most noisy members of the socialist conglomerate want a big cut out of the tax take, regardless, and the administration wants to pretend to be big-hearted with his cohorts but there just isn't enough money to go around, and this has become obvious. Add to this the fact that British money is frightened of its own government and the bankrupt condition of this country, and you'll realize we'll see some plain and fancy scrambling during the next few months.

The biggest noise will come from what will be known, unless another name is discovered, as "responsible conservatism." The word "responsible" will be used loosely, to put it mildly, since politicians are never responsible in the true meaning of the word: Authoritarian, yes; responsible, no.

This responsible conservatism will be nothing more than a hold the line for the moment socialism and it will receive a great deal of applause from the darndest quarters. Most of the people you knew formerly as "conservatives" will refuse to kick any of the socialism which presently plagues the people of this country. Everything from social security to socialized medicine will be acceptable and this will also become known as practical politics and a willingness to accept reality, and it will probably make you suffer from acute nausea from time to time but that's the way it's going to be, and don't forget it.

Naturally, much of this will be done under the name of saving our great two-party system and you will be able to view some of the most oddly associated bedfellows in the history of American politics. Actually, the association will not be as strange as it seems but the sheets did some shrinking and you'll be able to see who is in bed with whom more easily and this should give us some good laughs. It's not going to be easy to blow up the left side of a dead elephant but just remember that politicians are only worried about images, dead or alive.

Nobody, including your most conservative pals, will be launching any attacks on the socialist-fascist system as it now exists with the exception of Willis Stone and his loyal followers who will continue to work for passage of the Liberty Amendment, unamended. Mr. Stone has never displayed an inclination towards compromise.

When administration spokesmen admitted they were going to shake money loose from the "haves" to give to the "have nots," a lot of good friends of the socialist conglomerate didn't realize how quickly their own millions would be placed in jeopardy and they will be among the backers of "responsible conservatism" because they want to hang onto what they took out of the pot and you can't blame them for that, but there will be a lot of screaming going on, you can bet on it.

As far as doing anything about the mess we're in, every effort directed towards the strongest aspects of the market place will become more and more effective during the months ahead. Every person who does his or her very best to avoid doing business with government will find his dedication to self-responsible living more richly rewarded. You'll hear more and more about what you can do or must do for your country and the more loudly the screams are heard, the better. By the screaming you will know your own strength as a self-responsible respectable human being.

Every public office holder will holler more and more about people taking a greater interest in politics because the steadily increasing disgust with everything political is frightening. The tub thumpers will create an awful din. Enjoy it.

Forward Look Latest In Men's Wear

By WALTER LOGNA
NEW YORK (UPI) — When people design clothes for women they first draw sketches of fancily-swathed, elongated and usually swaybacked females with little if any waist or bosom. When they design for men they just take an old suit and stare at it until they think of something new.

One of the top designers of men's wear is Frank Toscani, 56, recently elected president of the International Association of Clothing Designers (IACD) who designs suits for H. Daroff & Sons of Philadelphia (Botany 500 and Worsted Tex).

The IACD is a non-profit organization working for a lot of profit-making organizations. It holds conventions from time to time when members show their new products, argue over trends and reach various general agreements on the future look of men's clothes.

"Right now the big thing is the Forward Look designed to enhance a man's looks," Toscani said. "For example there is a strong push on now for a slim, trim look, which calls for exercise in the gym with the shadow of a calory counter hanging over a man."

This stems from the fact that older men have looked with envy on the younger man and are trying to emulate him, he said. They have to the point where 86 per cent of the pants made in this country do not have pleats whereas a few years ago all pants were pleated.

"But it was like a maternity dress," he said. "The pleats didn't hide a little extra weight, they just advertised it."

So the newest thing around—on a mass scale—is the crisp Forward Look which is rapidly replacing the old bread and butter style of loose-hanging 3-button suits. Coats and pants are trimmer and slimmer and the shoulders are pitched slightly forward to give a more shoulder look.

"It's sort of like falsies," Toscani admits.

Slightly newer but not yet widely accepted is the Shaped Look but comparatively few men will be wearing this. In two or three years these forward fashion people will be influencing others and the shape may become the bread and butter suit, Toscani said.

By then, he said, "the real style leaders may go for the same silhouette you find in tails or a mess jacket—jackets will get shorter and shorter and shoulders will become broader. Hips will be trimmer. But now, this is only in the dream state."

How does Toscani go about designing a new suit? Well, in the first place there is the old bromide that there are no revolutions in men's style, just evolution. So everything must move slowly and he just manipulates the last pattern toward the new look.

There are no drawing boards—no illustrated designs. Toscani takes the paper pattern of a suit in production and modifies it for the new trend. It is made up into test models and studied at great length "while we change it this way and that way till it looks best."

When Toscani thinks he has something, he decks out four mannikins in the new designs and lines them up in Joseph Daroff's office. Joseph A. Daroff is president of the firm and has the last say.

Daroff stares at the mannikins for weeks while carrying out his normal office work and overruling the suggestions of various salesmen who take one look at the models and think of changes they would like. In the meantime Daroff lets the design bubble and stew.

When it has bubbled and stewed enough, and the design is firm enough to go into production, Toscani starts fiddling around with the next design.

Tips on Home Decor Apply Also to Office
By MARGERY McELHENY
CHICAGO (UPI) — Stacks of paper work often keep a businessman at his desk well into the evening hours.

He frequently has records and reports which can best be written away from jangling phones and the interruption of appointments. A quiet office after the regular business day provides an opportunity to catch up with details.

However, long hours at the desk can cause fatigue and irritability if the working environment is not well planned. Many an executive, tired out after a long day, tends to take his irritation out on members of the family.

You can help your husband reduce fatigue by passing on a few tips regarding lighting, decorating and eye care that apply to office as well as home.

Proper lighting is one of the most important factors in a work situation, particularly during the shorter days of winter when much of a man's office work is done under artificial light. Extended visual concentration plus artificial lighting can cause eye fatigue and headaches, say researchers for the Murine Company.

Working under panels of fluorescent light all day may cause eye fatigue. If it does, cut down ceiling illumination and supplement overall lighting with a desk lamp. Such a lamp provides softer light for concentrated desk work, with adequate illumination for reading thrown directly on books or papers.

The minimum size lamp recommended is one with a 15-inch base and a shade 10 inches deep. Even better is a unit with a 30-inch base and a translucent, drum-type shade 15 inches deep. In any case, the lamp should not be the only source of illumination used in the room. It should serve as a supplement to overall background lighting.

Light should fall over the shoulder and be high enough to prevent glare on the page—at least 15 inches above the desk counter and the same distance away from paper work. A 75-watt bulb is the minimum recommended for adequate desk lighting, and a 100-watt source is preferable.

Next to lighting, the single most important aid to home decorating is color.

"Warm" colors such as red or orange make rooms seem smaller, pulling in the walls and uniting furniture groupings. "Cool" or receding colors such as blue and green make rooms seem optically larger by pushing out the walls and raising ceilings. Very light tints of all colors impart an illusion of openness and spaciousness. Appropriate combinations of lighting and color make a business office more pleasant and conducive to work.

Restful, quiet colors are recommended, such as grayed pastels and neutral shades. Framing windows with drapes from ceiling to floor imparts an atmosphere of subdued warmth and eliminates extreme contrasts. Harsh, bright expanse of light and color should be avoided. Office furniture should be functional, but also eye-appealing and comfortable.

Focusing the eyes on distant objects for a few seconds will help relieve eye fatigue caused by long sessions at the desk. Squeeze the eyelids together at intervals during long periods of close work to relax eye muscles. Eye lotion will provide soothing relief for eyes irritated by overconcentration.

One of the best eye exercises is to wink without squinting. The lid should completely cover one eye while the other eye stays open. If this is difficult, blink both eyes at the same time, repeating slowly 10 times.

Stripes Single Out Jacqueline Kennedy
ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — A bright blue outfit with two bold stripes singled Jacqueline Kennedy out through the swirling mountain snows at Aspen Sunday, as she and her two children took ski lessons on 7900-foot Buttermilk Mountain.

Below-freezing temperatures and icy highways approaching this winter resort area combined with Secret Service men to keep crowds at a minimum. Photographers who approached Mrs. Kennedy were quickly dispersed by a Secret Service agent, Frank Mayes.

Mrs. Kennedy, obviously enjoying her second attempt at skiing, went up Buttermilk Mountain on a lift and, with the aid of an instructor, skied back down.

Caroline, 7, and John Jr., 4, stayed on the lower part of the mountain with two other instructors.

Sen.-elect Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., a regular skier and veteran at Aspen, took to the more advanced slopes with four of his children who flew in from Washington with him Saturday.

The Kennedy party, planning to spend eight days here, will be increased Monday with the arrival of Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford, sisters to the late president, with their children.

Servicemen Allowed Out Of Clark Base

By CARL ZIMMERMAN
MANILA (AP) — American servicemen were allowed out of Clark Air Base today after a weekend of restrictions imposed by the U.S. Air Force because of a protest rally in the nearby town of Angeles.

Some speakers at the rally Sunday urged removal of U.S. military bases from the Philippines and the recall of U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Balir Jr. There was no violence.

The rally, attended by about 2,000 Filipinos, was called to protest the killing of two Filipino trespassers by guards on U.S. bases and Blair's charge that two Filipinos had tried to bomb an American school at Clark.

The call for removal of U.S. bases was taken up by several congressmen, including Rep. Benjamin Ligot, a member of President Diosdado Macapagal's Liberal party. He recommended that the United States "put a fleet around the Philippines" as it does around Formosa.

Justice Secretary Salvador Marino was reported planning to start Saturday on an investigation of the incidents ordered by President Macapagal. Marino and other Philippine officials have urged calm and sobriety. Macapagal has taken the position that no action can be taken until all the facts are known.

Col. Diosdado Garcia, provincial constabulary commander, reported Sunday that his investigation had confirmed that a World War II Japanese mortar shell was thrown into the American schoolyard at Clark Base on Dec. 18 but that the shell's fuse had been removed.

Garcia said the shell could not explode and that it probably had been thrown to harass the Filipino civilian guard at the school.

The organizer of the rally in Angeles, City Councilman Carlos Sandico, has been campaigning for Blair's recall, asserting that he fabricated the bombing charge to divert attention from the shooting of the two Filipinos. During the rally a caricature of Blair straddling a bomb was burned.

Duke of Windsor To Go Sightseeing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) —The Duke of Windsor is expected to take a sightseeing drive around Houston early this week, his first outing since undergoing surgery Dec. 16.

He sat on the Methodist Hospital sun deck Sunday and spent much time reading and working in his room.

The former British king, now 70, underwent abdominal surgery for the removal of an aneurysm — or blister — on his aorta.

He plans to leave the hospital sometime this week.

Farmer Complains About New Highway

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — After Interstate Highway 35 is built across his farm, Edgar N. Petty figures he'll have to drive eight miles to go from his house to his barn.

The barn is 400 feet from the house. The highway will go between them. The highway department is scheduled to take possession of the 295-foot-wide right-of-way Tuesday.

Petty said the road also will take 17 of his 160 acres. Cut off 22 acres of choice pasture land. Eliminate two stock ponds.

Put the farm on a dead end lane.

Destroy the solitude of country living.

"I can't possibly assess all the damage," Petty said. "And it's so expensive to go to court."

Being Maverick Pays Off Well Garner Finds

By JOAN CROSBY
NEW YORK (NEA) — Jim Garner is not the usual breed of actor.

Actors for instance, are often late for dates, but they never know it. Garner breezed into Sardi's for lunch, a few minutes late and apologizing profusely.

"It wasn't traffic, or anything like that," he smiled. "But you know how actors are—I was with someone who was mattering my ego, and I couldn't bear to leave."

Garner, who is appearing in "The Americanization of Emily" and the soon-to-be-released MGM film, "36 Hours," is also involved in producing the pictures in which he appears.

"When I am deciding whether or not to accept a role, the hardest applied consists of my own personal likes and dislikes. I ask if the role is within my capability. And I want to know who will be working on the picture and, finally, will it be a success?"

"When everything is added together, and it still looks as if somebody is going to lose money and be hurt by the film, I don't see the point in making it. Some pictures are made just so the star can act in them. Someone probably has to take a financial loss, and that's not fair."

Garner's sense of humor has not been dimmed by the years or the long hours he put in as one of television's brightest early stars (Bret Maverick, in case anyone has to be reminded). He says he watches himself on the movie screen with "sensations of fright, fear and nausea. It's different from television, which you could not take seriously. It was just an acting class and the people who saw it, forgot it after 15 minutes."

The ironies of Garner's early success are not lost on him. He was a fairly untrained actor when Maverick hit the air and became a sensation. His easy, natural, humorous personality came through and won fans all over the country.

"But eight years ago, when the show started, I wasn't even fit to carry Henry Fonda's script. Yet, I had a hit television series and he didn't. There is no comparison in talents, he was one of the greatest actors—and still is.

"Many television stars 10 years ago are now doing TV commercials. If I had been in Maverick for two more years, I would have been over exposed and would need another five years to begin a new career. Or, if I hadn't succeeded in moving into films, I would have done a new TV series, and if it wasn't a success, I would be on the road down hill."

"I did Maverick for three years. People liked the series, not me. The scripts began to slip after the first year. There was one story we did three times in three different settings. Our first Maverick was based on a movie called "The War of Copper Kings," that starred Errol Flynn. That's how I got my costume for the show—they matched it to stock film foot-long shots."

Jim and Steve McQueen are at the moment, the only two former television stars whose names have become big box office attractions. The major difference in his life now and then—aside from considerations like money and sufficient time to rehearse and film a picture—is the attitude of fans.

"Now I'm Mr. Garner," Jim smiled. "I used to be Bret. One day my mailman asked me if I was going to be home Sunday. 'I'd like to bring the kids over to meet you,' he said."

Viet Nam Tries To Form Own Peace Corps

By RAY CROMELY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Nguyen Hy Van is a thin, very serious, Saigonese university architectural student whose father was killed years ago by the Communists.

Van was taken a year off from studying. He's spending his time trying to get other Vietnamese college students to take a year's leave from school to help farmers and tribesmen and their children to read and write harvest their crops, inoculate their pigs and care for their sick.

Van's first group of student workers was organized this summer. Of the 125 students who volunteered, he picked the best 37. After training, they went into action in Darlac Province in central Viet Nam.

Three six-man teams went to Rhade mountain tribesmen hamlets at M'Dung, Suot, H'Loat and M'Drang, where they live in the long houses of the tribal chiefs. Three more teams went to hamlets at Nam Phong, Binh Chau, Quang Chau and Ky Phuoc, where they live with private families, in schools and temples.

Van and his top staff receive no funds. Their living expenses are paid by relatives. Van's brother, a medical doctor, helps him. The regular volunteers receive the equivalent of about $15 a month for food, lodging and personal necessities, but no salary.

"When we first moved in to Darlac," Van said, "they called us 'white-faced boys' (city slickers with no practical knowledge). They were afraid we were a government team sent to make reports on them. But things gradually changed as they found we were there to help, not tell them what to do."

"We found out one thing," Van continued. "We were going to teach reading in the evenings. But after an hour each night, the farmers wanted to ask questions about life in Saigon and what goes on. We decided this was as important as what we'd been planning to teach. After that we split the evenings—part study, part discussion."

In the first two months they were at Darlac Province, Van's first student group of 37 reported these accomplishments:

—Dug three fish pools, distributed 191 fruit trees, cleared 6,500 square feet of forest for peanut growing, built one model pig sty, distributed 20 bags of manure, killed 2,684 rats, inoculated 1,106 pigs against cholera and gelded 8 oxen and buffalo.

—Built one three-room primary school, two water reservoirs, 12 water closets and a model one-room house, repaired damaged tables, chairs and doors at three schools, dug or repaired 52 wells, repaired one wooden bridge and four public health service offices.

—Gave cholera vaccinations to 3,801 persons, distributed medicine to 6,755 people, gave children haircuts and promoted elementary notions of hygiene in the hamlets (partly through clean-up campaigns).

—Organized 396 pupils in six first-grade classes, 178 pupils in second and third-grade classes and 178 adults in "popular education" classes. Organized group recreation programs and taught songs and dances to children.

—Cut grass and weeds, dug gutters, developed irrigation systems, helped farmers with their bean and corn harvests and killed locusts.

Van had 467 college students volunteer for his second crew. He accepted only 63 of the best and has now sent them to work in fishing and farming hamlets in the coastal areas of central Viet Nam. He hopes gradually to build his volunteer service to 3,000 students, each taking a year to do something.

He feels intensely that the gap between Saigon and rural Viet Nam is so great that the people of neither understands the other. Co-operation is difficult; misunderstandings multiply.

College students will some day furnish the leadership of the country in business, education and government. Van thinks that if enough of these future leaders get a first-hand feel of farmers, fishermen and mountain tribesmen and how they live and think, then gradually some misunderstandings will be corrected.

Van says that in the few months of his program he has noticed a major change in the attitude of his college volunteers.

He mentions one example of their dedication. His top deputy, Tran Bgoc Bau, seriously ill of tuberculosis, won't stop to rest and is resolved to work to the end.

President Johnson will stress "achievement of the full potential of our resources" in his State of the Union message.

The message will be delivered to a joint session of Congress at 9 p.m., Jan. 4—opening day of the new Congress.

To those seeking a clue as to the tone of his State of the Union message, Johnson is referring them to an article he wrote for the 1958 winter issue of the Texas Quarterly when he was Democratic leader of the Senate.

It begins:

"I am a free man, an American, a United States senator, and a Democrat in that order."

"I am a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be and as old as I expect to be—and I am all these things in no fixed order."

Some excerpts:

"First, I believe every American has something to say and, under our system, a right to an audience."

"Second, I believe there is always a national answer to each national problem, and, believing this, I do not believe that there are necessarily two sides to every question."

"Third, I regard achievement of the full potential of our resources—physical, human and otherwise—to be the highest purpose of governmental policies next to the protection of those rights we regard as inalienable."

"Fourth, I regard waste as the continuing enemy of our society and the prevention of waste—waste of resources, waste of lives, or waste of opportunity—to be the most dynamic of the responsibilities of our government."

"Government can waste the people's resources by inertia, quite as much by vigor. Government can, for example, fall into a state of complacency over relative positions of strength between nations of the world. An international stalemate with communism would, I believe, be the greatest waste of American resources and the resources of freedom, even though the stalemate produced no war. A vital government cannot accept stalemate in any area—foreign or domestic. It must seek the national interest solution, vigorously and confidently."

terms, helped farmers with their bean and corn harvests and killed locusts.

Van had 467 college students volunteer for his second crew. He accepted only 63 of the best and has now sent them to work in fishing and farming hamlets in the coastal areas of central Viet Nam. He hopes gradually to build his volunteer service to 3,000 students, each taking a year to do something.

Dog Benefits Most From Yule Season

By WARD CANNEL
NEW YORK (NEA) — As usual, the dog made out better than anybody else in the house on Christmas, receiving a pat, vacuum cleaner and electric blanket.

But as he cannot read, we had to go over the operating instruction booklet of each appliance out loud for him. And thus it was that we noticed each began in just about the same words:

CONGRATULATIONS. You are now the owner of a prized possession which has been made without compromise in quality by flawless craftsmanship coupled with exciting new design.

In all fairness, we must admit that we did not feel deserving of such sincere congratulations. If anybody deserved the congratulations, we felt, it was the manufacturer.

But on second thought, we realized that no mistake had been made. Quite the contrary. The name of Alfred Nobel is honored a lot more than the name of Wilhelm Roentgen, say, or, in fact, most of the other recipients of the prize.

For some reason, it is much more blessed to give high honors than to receive them. As to what the award is made for, or whether you make it to yourself, appears to be a minor consideration.

In that regard, we saw a full-page advertisement in a magazine the other day in which a fellow named Paul Monash was heartily congratulated for being the producer of a television program called "Peyton Place."

It was not quite clear who was doing the congratulating because of the warm testimonial appeared to be written by Mr. Monash or a rather close friend of his.

We were therefore surprised to see our own name in the ad, followed by an endorsement in which we were quoted as saying that "Peyton Place" was just about the best show of this season or any other season for that matter.

We could hardly believe our eyes because we had never expressed that sentiment. What we had actually said was a whole column in length and on an entirely different topic, of which that particular sentence had been considerably less than a complete thought.

However, on reading by this new light what we wrote by another, we were delighted to learn that we had called "Peyton Place" just about the best show of this season or any other.

The sentiment, it seemed to us on reflection, nicely summed up not only TV of this season and any other, but also this Monash person or his friend.

Well, that is what happens. You cannot be a big man with borrowed testimonials or you will almost certainly be hoisted by your own award.

But that is the least of it. What worries us most about these self-congratulations is that they turn the giver into the receiver and the receiver into the giver. And there is no profit that we can see in having words which mean their own opposites.

It tapers with the whole idea of recognition, distinction and honor. To shake the word, it seems to us, is to devalue the deed.

Romanian Envoy Ousted by Swiss

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss government has expelled Romanian Embassy secretary Ion Hidos on charges of using Swiss territory for espionage operations, a brief official announcement said today.

An official said it was one of many similar cases "which are relatively harmless but show that Communist agents have come to consider Switzerland as the ideal country for clandestine meetings. That's why we decided to put our foot down."

The Romanian Embassy refused all comment.

FOR SKIERS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Tourists who are planning a ski trip out of Berlin can get the latest information about European snow conditions simply by dialing 1160 in that city, says the Berlin Tourist Bureau. The service covers all the major winter resorts.

LOCATION
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — MGM chose the "wild west" setting of Spain for its new opera "Son of a Gunfighter" which was shot entirely on the Iberian plains.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Clem wants to know if it is unwise to continue the Santa Claus story. Do you readers feel that Santa Claus is a detriment or a visual aid to helping give your youngsters a better picture of the unselfishness typified by Christmas. Discuss this problem at Sunday School.

By GEORGE W. Crane, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE U-465: Clem W., aged 22, is the seminary student mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "do you think it is unwise to tell children there is a Santa Claus?"

"Some clergymen are attacking this fanciful tale as very pagan and irreligious."

"But I know many parents disagree with the clergy on this point."

God was the first Santa Claus so stress this origin of the colorful Christmas character with the long whiskers.

In fact, those whiskers are part of mankind's conventional concept of the Almighty.

Remind your youngsters that the first Santa Claus was God, whose remarkable gift was the Christ Child.

Then let them know that all the modern Santas are simply substitutes for God, or His modern "helpers."

For they all represent the essential unselfish idea of doing something good for other folks.

Beware, however, lest your children develop the "gimme" attitude and thus focus entirely on their own selfish wants and desires.

Good parents should produce the proper extrovert-introvert balance or they will let Santa Claus become merely a pagan symbol of selfishness.

It is appropriate to have your child express his wish for skates or dolls or sleds or other toys, but that in an introverted trait.

Extrovert your youngster by showing him the crucial needs of other less fortunate youngsters.

Encourage him to develop empathy so he can project himself into the personality of these hungry, cold and toy-less urchins.

For then he will be motivated to GIVE, which is the proper spirit that is supposed to be generated by Christmas!

Alas, many American homes are godless. With Oregon having only 28 per cent of its total citizenry who claim any church membership whatsoever, including Jewish, Catholic and Protestant, you can see how pagan this country has become.

And Arkansas (31 per cent), Georgia (34 per cent), Indiana (43 per cent) and Ohio (46 per cent) typify the minority of citizens who claim any church affiliation.

And even among those who do claim church membership, about half seldom show up but are called C-E Christians, meaning they are in church pews only at Christmas and Easter! So it isn't Santa Claus that is pagan but far too many American parents!

And it really isn't the children who are making Christmas a selfish, introverted event, but their parents who fail to teach them the broader outlook involving empathy for less fortunate tots.

Santa Claus is a convenient visual symbol around which to clarify the basic idea of unselfishness.

But it requires human teachers to do this, so you parents should not shun your religious obligation to your youngsters.

Priests and Rabbis, Protestant Ministers and Sunday School teachers can't carry all the load of religious education for your children!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Shorter Skirts Are Forecast In Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — Mathematically speaking, the most popular formula for women's styles this spring is:

Subtract from already short hemlines, add more to dress tops, and divide skirts — short division equals culottes, long division, the pantaloons craze.

For dressy occasions multiply gauzy yardage into huge cloud-like stoles, ballooning sleeves and burgeoning skirts. Add ruffles to anything any place, for any event.

Just how this figures in terms of the feminine anatomy as well as the family budget will be taken into account beginning Sunday by some 200 fashion reporters here for a nine-day preview of America's most costly clothes.

Trend-setting design houses are scheduled to show their spring collections either during the New York Couture Group's 22nd annual press week program, Jan. 3-8, or as a part of the American Designer series, Jan. 8-12. The designer series has been conducted for the past three years by Eleanor Lambert, former press director of the Couture group.

It is estimated that only about two million American women are able to afford these clothes priced at seldom less than $100 and often more than $1,000.

Nevertheless, the wearing apparel of 56 million other women without the means of their wealthier sisters will shape up in line with the new style ideas. The most successful styles are always reproduced by the volume ready-to-wear manufacturers.

Merely Being Alert Doesn't Prevent Falls

NEW YORK (UPI) — Merely being alert isn't enough if you want to provide maximum safety in your home for your family. With one-third of all fatal accidents occurring in the home each year, it's obvious that preventing injuries is a matter of thoughtful planning as well as careful behavior.

Here are some sound, safety-proven measures that you can take right now to protect your family from laxness that could result in painful mishaps:

—Avoid the danger of dark stairways; put light switches at the top and bottom.

—If your stairs are not surfaced with a slip-resistant material such as ceramic tile, make sure they are protected with proper pads that can't come loose.

—Bedrooms should not open onto a landing or stairway.

—Doors should not open into halls.

—Second-floor window sills should not be less than 30 inches from the floor.

—Electrical outlets and light switches should not be within easy reach of the bathtub.

—Grab bars should be installed right into the ceramic tile surrounding the tub to assist in getting in and out.

—Keep kitchen curtain walls well away from the stove.

—Beware of low-hanging pipes and ducts, especially over such places as the basement stairs.

—Abrupt floor-level changes, if used, should be well marked.

Johnson Preparing Message, Budget

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Aides flew in from Washington to lend a hand on the State of the Union message and President Johnson went back to work Saturday after a Christmas respite.

Preparation of the message and the budget are major presidential concerns at the moment. Johnson reportedly was over the hump on a budget of around $100 billion earlier last week, although he still was working over details and final decisions Saturday, the Texas White House said.

In addition, he brought in special assistants Bill D. Moyers, Jack Valenti, Horace Busby and Richard Goodwin from Washington to help on the State of the Union message and other business.

Ideas for the message have been tossed around before but assistant press secretary Malcolm Kilduff said that with the quartet of aides on hand, "this is getting down to the nuts and bolts of it."

The message will be delivered to a joint session of Congress, by radio and television to the nation, at 9 p.m. EST Jan. 4.

Safe Driving Meeting Set in Fremont County

Colorado State Patrolman Richard L. Downey of Canon City will explain driving rules and regulations of the state, and some of the proposed legislation for safer driving in Colorado this afternoon in the Fremont County Courthouse auditorium.

The public has been invited to attend the meeting by the Colorado Extension Homemakers Council, which is sponsoring the program.

Mrs. Rollo Gebhardt, of Canon City, state safety chairman for the council, will give some tips for accident prevention in the home.

Six Christmas Babies Born In Springs

Six babies of the 34 born in the five local and military hospitals since Christmas Eve will celebrate their birthdays on Christmas Day.

Of these half dozen, three were girls and three were boys.

Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Eurich of Peyton; Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Cline of Route 3, and Airman I.C. and Mrs. James R. Winstead of Ent Air Force Base.

The boys belong to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Garcia, 1122 1/2 W. Cucharras St.; Spec. 5 and Mrs. Richard Kincaid of Route 1, and 1st Lt. and Mrs. Martin Fisher, 509 Holly Dr.

Of the six, the Fisher boy weighed the most, 8 pounds 3 ounces, and the Garcia boy was the smallest, 7 pounds even.

Memorial was the only one of the five hospitals that did not have a Christmas baby.

Machine Coin Boxes Broken Into in Area

Two coin-operated laundries reported that some of their machines had been broken into over the weekend, police reported.

The first occurred at the Maytag Laundry, 441 N. Union Blvd., between 2 a.m. and 3:50 a.m. Sunday. An employee of the store told police the thieves took approximately $8 from two machines and an unknown amount of money from a plastic bag dispenser. Police said some damage was done, but cost of the damage was unestimated.

The Ideal Cleaning and Laundry, 311 S. Hancock St., was broken into between 3:30 a.m. and 4:25 a.m. Sunday, and thieves did $20 damage and stole $6, according to police. An extracting machine and a detergent and bleach machine were the two which were broken into, according to the report.

Police said the thieves had used a type of pry-bar to gain entrance to the machines.

Miss Adeline Bradley Died at Hospital

Miss Adeline M. Bradley, 1424 Tweed St., died Saturday at a local hospital. She was a former nurse and had resided in Colorado Springs 14 years. She was a member of Corpus Christi Catholic Church.

Miss Bradley was born in Shawnee, Okla., Aug. 15, 1901. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Kathleen Hardin, of Colorado Springs and aunts and uncles.

Rosary services will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Law Drawing Room. A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated at Corpus Christi Church at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Denver, at 11:30 a.m.

Tires and Wheels Taken From Truck

Tires and wheels valued at $24 were taken from a 1928 pickup truck over the Christmas holiday, police reported.

Jerry D. Foudray, 228 N. Cascade Ave., said the tires and wheels were removed from the rear axle of his truck between 6:30 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Saturday. The truck was parked beside a service station at 1233 N. Circle Dr., and had been there since last summer, according to Foudray.

Jaycees Will Have Annual Banquet Jan. 9

The date of the Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce Annual Awards Banquet was incorrect in Sunday's Gazette Telegraph. The banquet will be held Saturday, Jan. 9 at the Dublin House, not Jan. 3 as printed in Sunday's paper.

Carson Unit Supports Local Children's Home

The spirit of Christmas is extending from many Ft. Carson soldiers into the civilian community this year, as in years past, with the Christian Home for Children in Colorado Springs as an important focus of attention.

Latest liaison reported with the home is between Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 10th Infantry. Men of this unit gave gifts usable by all guests at the home to 25 of them at a recent company party. The gifts are valued at $300.

They also repaired several bicycles and tricycles and redecorated two playrooms at the home.

The company gave $75 as well for its share in the 1st Battalion, 10th Infantry, program

Patrol Chief Urges Extra Holiday Caution

State Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel today urged Colorado highway users to put forth a little extra effort to stay alive over the coming New Year holiday.

One more major holiday remains to be celebrated this year — the one which traffic officials dread the most, next to Christmas, and for the same reasons.

"Drinking drivers, too much hurry and scurry, and usually bad road and weather conditions combine to make the last two holidays of the year the most dangerous," said Carrel.

Last New Year, four people died on Colorado highways during the 30-hour holiday period. This year the holiday will be 78 hours long.

"Social drinkers are the big menace," Carrel stated. "Their critical judgment is impaired with a fairly low alcohol concentration. If you drink, don't drive." Carrel said he hoped everyone would exercise common sense while celebrating the arrival of the New Year, and urged New Year's even hosts to provide transportation home for guests who overindulge.

Those who have "one last drink for the road, may be having their last drink — period," he said. "Most important," Carrel concluded, "drive defensively — accept the dictates of common sense behavior in traffic; and be prepared to avoid the fellow who doesn't."

Youths Picked Up for Paper Rack Pilfering

Five juveniles were picked up Sunday in connection with a rash of newspaper rack break-ins, police reported.

The youths, all between 15 and 17 years of age, were apprehended at Weber Street and Fontanero Street at 9:15 p.m. Sunday, in a 1956 model car.

In their possession were a profusion of coins, mostly quarters and nickels. Found on the floor of the back seat was a flat, curved metal bar and a round metal bar, plus approximately 56 bottles of beer of different brands.

Six newspaper racks were pried open over the weekend, and an unestimated amount of money was taken from the racks, according to police.

The racks were discovered at varying intervals over the weekend and each was at a different location, according to police.

The youth are being held for investigation of petty larceny and malicious mischief, according to the report.

Stolen Car Damaged; Abandoned

A car valued at $1,395 was stolen over the weekend, and then abandoned in a damaged condition, police reported.

Alfred J. Niemczyk, 306 N. Cascade Ave., told police he parked his car in front of the house at 11:30 p.m. Saturday, and when he returned to get the car at 10:15 a.m. Sunday, it was gone.

The car was found abandoned in the 600 block of W. Pikes Peak Avenue and it was discovered by police that the car had been "hot-wired" by thieves. The car's two left wheels were damaged and the tires were flat, and the muffler had been torn off and a dent put in the rear left fender, according to Niemczyk.

No estimate was made as to the amount of damage done to the vehicle, according to the report.

Red Cross Sets Series of First Aid Courses

The Pikes Peak Chapter of the American National Red Cross is offering several First Aid Courses. They will be held at the Chapter House, 1600 N. Cascade, starting at 7 in the evening. Two Standard First Aid Classes will start on Jan. 12 and Jan. 14, anyone 14 years or older qualifies for these classes. They will meet for two hours once a week for five weeks.

An Advanced Class will start on Jan. 22. To qualify for this course you must hold a Standard First Aid certificate issued within the last three years. This class will meet for three hours for 6 consecutive weeks.

Starting on Monday, Jan. 4, a First Aid Instructor's Class will be held. To qualify for this class you must hold an Advanced First Aid Card issued within the last three years. This class will meet for three hours for five weeks.

The instructors for these classes will be: Wilbur Robertson, Mrs. Daniel McMillen, Tod Campbell and Elven McIlrath. If you are interested in any of these courses, call the Chapter House, 632-3563.

Red Cross First Aid Courses teach you knowledge and skills to: Prevent accidents, protect accident victims, give emergency care for severe bleeding, stoppage of breathing and oral poisoning, take care of minor injuries to prevent them from becoming major injuries, make you more accident-conscious and help you develop a better attitude toward safety.

Healthful Living Is Key To Pikes Peak Marathon

Healthful living and training are keys to success in the annual Pikes Peak footrace, "the world's most challenging marathon," according to a Colorado Springs physician who examined the runners after this year's competition.

Dr. Hubert F. Sturges gives his observations in the current issue of "Today's Good," a nationally circulated health publication sponsored by the Pacific Union Association of Seventh-day Adventists.

According to Dr. Sturges, the runners who completed the race were "men of magnificent physical fitness."

"They had to be," he said, "to be able to complete the course in a day." Ten men finished the round trip within six hours.

Dr. Sturges said he was interested in examining the runners to learn "what it takes to make a champion."

The 26-mile race, which follows a winding path rising 8000 feet from Manitou Springs to the 14,110-ft. summit, was held last Aug. 23. Twenty-four men, including 63-year-old Elmore Crane, took part. The winner, Don Akin, established a new record of 2 hours, 29 minutes, 50 seconds for the ascent, and he completed the round trip in 4 hours, 3 minutes, 33 seconds. Last year's winner, John Rose, came in second. The ten runners who finished within six hours came in at intervals of from 10 to 20 minutes.

Dr. Sturges observed that none of the men were overweight, that they were, in fact, "quite lean as a group."

He found that at rest a champion's heart "beats along at 60 beats or less per minute," compared to a typical 70 to 80 at rest for most people.

The champion's heart speeds up during a standard exercise test, but returns to normal "in a phenomenal 30 seconds," Dr. Sturges said, noting that in the same test, an average high school football player's heart takes one full minute to return to a resting rate. Insurance standards permit a two-minute period for return to rest after the test.

Dr. Sturges said that at the finish of the marathon each runner was found to have a pulse rate of 160 per minute. Within a minute, they showed a remarkable recovery, the rate slowing down from 20 to 40 beats.

"Their first request invariably was for water. Then they'd walk about visiting family and friends, getting pictures taken — as if it were all in a day's work," Dr. Sturges said.

He found that the average hemoglobin of the runners who were given blood tests was over 15 grams, "or a good 100 per cent," and that blood cholesterol was found to be a low normal level.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January.

Clingan said that the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

Seven cases of theft were reported to the sheriff's office over the week-end.

Brownie Bell of the Bell Ranch on Bradley Road told Deputy Sheriff Wayne King that a $175 ladies saddle belonging to Susan Shattack, 304 Sherri Dr. had been stolen from one of the stalls.

George Thompson, 408 Crater Rd. reported that an $85 rifle was removed from his car while it was parked on East Highway 94. It is a Winchester 30-30 calibre, serial 5206288.

A tachometer valued at $60 was stolen from a car belonging to Wayne Roberts, 1919 1/2 N. Chestnut St. The vehicle was parked outside the Krazy Kat, 3905 N. Nevada Ave., at the time. The door was locked but the side window had been forced causing $10 damage.

A second case of a stolen tachometer was reported by Wes Vandervoort, 425 Juanita St. He told Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien that the tachometer which was worth $52 had been stolen for his car which was parked on Juanita Street.

John M. Booth of Birmantown, Mich. said that the ski rack attached to the roof of his car had been stolen while the car was parked in the area of the Broadmoor Hotel.

A $60 cement mixer was removed from property belonging to George N. Maurer three and a half miles south of Falcon.

The final case was reported by Mrs. Betty B. Newell, Route 2, who told Deputy Holien that a former employee who had worked for her had left taking her $100 movie camera, a $52 pistol and a ladies watch and an unknown amount of silver dollars and half-dollars.

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON (Special to the Gazette Telegraph) — New studies of retired pay. Due to the influence of the Reserve lobby in the time there was little the Pentagon could do about it.

The Defense Department is not expected to make any compromise on the elimination of the Reserve lobby on the Hill. This is the main objective of the Pentagon in the revamping of the Reserves. When high level officials awakened to the fact that a registered lobby had members of Congress serving as a special legislative committee even been intimidated by any reliable Pentagon source.

Reservists will be afforded an opportunity to be transferred to a National Guard unit, and this general who is also a Superior Court judge in the State of Washington in which he said that disappear for many Reserve officers, the opportunity will remain for them to earn their 35 points each year and thus add qualified years toward their retirement. Not many enlisted Reservists stay for 20 years and thus earn a military pension.

Remarks of Secretary of Defense McNamara about savings in the retirement budget were not limited to savings that would come from dropping out of the Reservists. It included the extraordinary amount of money being paid for non-productive service for active duty Reserve officers.

Right after the close of WW-II and Korean activities many active duty Reserve officers retiring after 20 years of active duty received 75 per cent retired pay rather than the 50 per cent that the Regular officers received because of (1) Reserve officers retiring in higher grades (ROPA) than the grade in which they were actually serving, and (2) many had 30 years in the Reserve for pay purposes. Since 62 per cent of the Army retired officers are Reservists this took a terrific slice out of the budget.

It led to the direct elimination of the Reserve component. The Air Force is scaling back procurement of new officers from Officer Training School and its individual officer recall program.

The Civil Service Commission has announced that charity groups which practice racial discrimination no longer will be permitted to solicit contributions in federal bases from federal civilian employees and military personnel.

Within the early months of 1965 the Army will drop its 14 Reserve Corps, each of which is headed by a Regular Army major general and the records responsibility for the Reservists will then be transferred to the Army will then proceed with the merger of two additional armies into one. The end result will be four armies rather than six as it is now.

Doug Scovil is expected to succeed Wayne Hardin as Navy's football coach at the Naval Academy.

All associations whose membership is of the military personnel are expected to make their major legislative issue in 1965 on Medicare for retirees and their dependents; a modification of the 1964 Dual Compensation Law to give greater equity to retired Regular officers as now employed by retired career Reserve officers; protection of the commissaries and post exchanges; and not least by any means, improved and modern housing for married families. All will seek a pay increase in 1965 for active duty personnel but the chances of this happening are very slim at this time.

One net result from the merger of the Reserve and National Guard not mentioned so far is that the new program is expected to release a very substantial number of Regular Army officers and men to other duties.

The Air Force is scaling back procurement of new officers from Officer Training School and its individual officer recall program.

Vandals With Air Gun Damage Two Cars

Vandals armed with a B-B gun did approximately $94 damage to two cars parked at the curb Friday, the sheriff's office reported.

Claude Revious, 533 Ponderosa Dr., told sheriff's deputies that the two cars, a 1954 model and a 1956 model, were parked in front of his home at the curb and someone maliciously damaged them by shooting at them with a B-B gun.

Revious said that the windshield and right rear door glass were broken on one car, and the left front door window and vent were shattered on the other.

Rev. Charles Neal In Special Service

Rev. Charles A. Neal will talk on "Demonstrating Your Decisions" at a special service at 7:30 tonight at Unity Church, 317 E. Boulder.

This service was added for the benefit of those who were unable to hear him yesterday.

Neal served Unity Church, Colorado Springs, three years prior to his appointment to the Unity ministry in Detroit where he has the largest Unity congregation in the world (over 5000 members).

New Year's Eve Ball To Climax Hockey Week

International Hockey Week at the Broadmoor will reach a most people will be attending grand climax on New Year's Eve with a gala party in the ballroom. The party will be informal as the hockey game first. Members of the foreign hockey teams will be present at the affair.

Following the last of the night hockey games being played all week between Canada, Russia, and Czechoslovakia, festivities will shift from the World Arena to the ballroom where Bob Funk and his eight piece orchestra will play for dancing with gay celebrations on New Year's Eve. Phil Raphael and his horns, confetti, and balloons will convey the traditional rousing welcome to the New Year in the beautifully decorated room festooned with Christmas greens, and a profusion of flowers.

Reservations may be made with Broadmoor's social director, Helen Atwater, or with Carol Truax. Admission will be $2.50 per person. The entire hotel will be alive with celebrations on New Year's Eve. Phil Raphael and his horns, confetti, and balloons will convey the traditional rousing welcome to the New Year in the beautifully decorated room festooned with Christmas greens, and a profusion of flowers.

The Mature Parent

Must She Blame Herself?

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: It's a year since my nephew, 4, had an operation to deepen a shallow hip socket that made one of his legs shorter than the other. He is now walking without a limp but my sister still acts like his slave. If he wants her attention when she's phoning, she hangs up. She lets him grab food from serving dishes. She says she knows she spoils him because she still blames herself for his hip trouble but then starts crying and says she can't help it.

ANSWER: Maybe she's right. It doesn't do much good merely to "know" that we're unreasonable to blame ourselves for a child's disability. We have to feel the cruelty with which we are treating ourselves. And to feel it, we may have to go back to many other older experiences of false blame; to memories of our parents' misjudgments of our childhood's actions, of the hopelessness which overwhelmed us when our explanations of our intentions were rejected as "excuses," of the accusations that made us feel guilty for things done by more favored brothers and sisters.

We may have to recapture these memories until the injustice of the mistaken blame that was put upon us is seen in its stark and unmistakable cruelty. Then—and often only then—can we feel our right to mercy. Often only then can our hearts break into love for ourselves so that we can begin to dimly discern the outrageous cruelty of our self-blame for our child's disability.

Your sister might find some sessions with a psychiatrist helpful at this point. If she could stop using this overindulgence to still the past's accusing voices which insist "It is you who have been bad again," she would. Without professional help, the blaming past may speak too powerfully for her to be able to turn on it and cry back at it, "I don't believe you any more! You have blamed me too often and too unjustly for me to credit anything you say! Including your lying hints that I was responsible for Tommy's shallow hip socket!"

God knows we human beings make enough mistakes without blaming ourselves for things we didn't do.

MRS. THOMAS ORRIN ALLEN

Patricia Ann Daniel Is Bride of Thomas O Allen

A wedding of interest here took place in Litchfield, Park, Ariz. last week when Miss Patricia Ann Daniel, formerly of Colorado Springs, became the bride of Thomas Orrin Allen of Litchfield Park. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert John Daniel, currently of Munich, Germany, former Colorado Springs residents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon O. Allen of Litchfield Park.

The Rev. James Ord performed the ceremony at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 22 in the Community Church. The altar was lighted by two candelabra and a memory candle, and the center aisle was lighted on both sides by candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Kenneth Arnold. Her floor length sheath gown of peau de soie was appliqued with lace and pearls, and styled with long sleeves and detachable chapel train. Her flowers were white phalaenopsis orchids arranged in a cascade on an open Bible.

Miss Susan Anderson was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Karen Stopher and Miss Victoria Mills. All wore floor length white satin gowns with scoop necklines and long sleeves. Each carried a hurricane lamp containing a lighted candle. The bases of the lamps were circled by feathered mums and foliage with velvet streamers.

Douglas Allen was best man, and groomsmen were L. Whitwell and Al Jackson. Ushers were Howard Smalley and Micki Olson.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Whippo, wore a sheath of blue linen with lace bodice, and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of blue chiffon with full flared skirt.

After a wedding trip to Carmel by the Sea, the newlyweds will live in Boulder, where both are students at Colorado University. The bride chose for her traveling ensemble a suit of cranberry wool, with sealskin collar and matching hat.

The guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Whippo of Colorado Springs, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Canfield, all of Tucson.

Gamma Omicron Holds Dinner at Dublin House

Gamma Omicron Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha celebrated the holiday season by meeting for dinner at the Dublin House last Monday evening.

Following dinner a Christmas gift exchange was held in the home of Mrs. Nila Lake. Mrs. Alice Matz and Mrs. Ruth Pierce were guests for the evening.

Members attending were Mrs. Doris Schlimmer, Mrs. Betty Radovich, Miss Bernice Rogers, Mrs. Hazel Huffsmith, Mrs. Lillie Smith, Mrs. Nila Lake and Miss Rita Ryan.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 4.

BELGRADE—Yugoslavia now boasts an 80 per cent literacy rate in her population over ten years old.

Wassail Tea Staged By Ent Club

The Ent Officers' Wives Club held its traditional wassail tea last week at the Skyline Club. Over 500 members and their guests enjoyed the tea, which is one of the highlights of the Christmas season in the Pikes Peak Region. Chairman for the gala event was Mrs. William B. Keese.

The Skyline Club was decorated throughout by members of the club for the Christmas season. The theme, "Peace on Earth" was beautifully carried out with white doves. Decorations chairman was Mrs. Henry Vicellio.

Music for the tea was provided by the wives Choral Society.

During the tea Mrs. G. M. Mersereau, welfare chairman, presented a Christmas check to the State Mental Hospital at Pueblo for Operation Santa Claus. Other charities for Christmas included a Christmas gift to the Korean orphan adopted by the club, and a $50 check for Operation Appalachia.

Monday Bridge Club Announces Recent Winners

The annual Christmas party of the Monday afternoon duplicate club was held Dec. 21 at Dublin House. The charity for the club this year was the Christian Home for children, and after the game, money and many gifts were taken to the home.

A thirteen table Mitchell game was played after the luncheon and the winners North—South were: first, Mrs. F. P. Campbell and Mrs. C. B. Lindsey, 58.9 per cent; second, Mrs. R. A. Blake and Mrs. J. L. Landers, 56.8 per cent; third, Mrs. N. E. Medlock and Mrs. S. P. Lindquist, 54.9 per cent; fourth, Mrs. R. Klein and Mrs. H. A. Kortemeyer, 53.6 per cent; and fifth, Mrs. M. B. Servatius and Mrs. J. P. Roetzel, 53.4 per cent.

The East—West winners were: Mrs. M. J. Thiemann and C. R. Allingham, first 57.5 per cent; second, Mrs. H. Shewmaker and Mrs. G. E. Settle, 56.8 per cent; third, Mrs. T. G. Remaklus and Mrs. Betty Maddalena, 54 per cent; fourth, Mrs. W. M. Godfrey and Mrs. G. E. Marvin, 52.8 per cent; and fifth, Mrs. K. M. Hall and Mrs. B. Davis, 52.5 per cent.

This club will meet at 1:15 o'clock today in the Divine Redeemer school cafeteria. For information call Mrs. A. R. Falb, 633-6986, or Mrs. C. B. Baggs, 633-2306.

One of the neighbors must have seen my friend under our bedroom window, and watched my husband join her in his bathrobe, and now we find ourselves in the middle of a big scandal! Some say we've been switching mates for years. Others say this woman is trying to break up my home. Anyway, the talk is all over town and we are afraid our children might hear it from their playmates. I can't go up and down the streets yelling it isn't true. What can we do? We can't all leave town. We own our homes, our husbands' jobs are here, and we can't afford to move.

—INNOCENT VICTIM

DEAR INNOCENT: Don't do anything. If you could afford to leave town, the move would only make you appear guilty. Worthwhile people neither believe gossip nor spread it. And the most wholehearted denial has yet to still one vicious tongue. Stay where you are and keep your sense of humor.

DEAR ABBY: I am disgusted with women. My husband plays with a well-known band. Women call him up and write to him from all over the country. Some of them are old enough to be his mother. I often travel with my husband and have actually seen women follow him to the door of the men's room! Any time now I expect to see one go in after him. Whatever happened to decent women? —LISA

DEAR LISA: Decent women are still with us, so don't judge the entire sex by the women

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Sit Out the Siege!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been best friends with the couple next door for years. We play bridge together, have taken trips together and our children play together. One night (a few weeks ago) the husband went to bed early, so his wife came over to watch TV with us. She went home around midnight, but forgot her house key and was locked out. Her husband, being a very sound sleeper, didn't hear the doorbell. She came over to our bedroom window (not wishing to awaken our children by ringing our doorbell), and shouted up to us to help her get into her house. My husband put on his bathrobe and went outside to try to find an open window in their house while I kept ringing their phone, hoping to wake up her husband. I finally succeeded and my husband was home in five minutes.

you've seen chasing your husband. Musicians are constantly being pursued by man-hungry women, but those who don't want to be bothered need only to ignore the glances, messages and overtures as soon as they get the pitch.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the mother of the 17-year-old boy, who tried to tell her that he should be allowed to stay out until midnight every night because "all his friends" could, fascinated me. I am the mother of five sons. My eldest (now married) tried the same stunt with me. I asked him for the names of the boys who had all the privileges he wanted and I telephoned their mothers in front of him. It turned out that all the boys were using the same story. They said OUR son had all the privileges THEY wanted. The other mothers were glad I called. Once my son learned that Mother could not be fooled, he quit trying. —A THANKFUL MOTHER

Beatles Try to Crash Their Scream Barrier

LONDON (AP)—The Beatles—whose worshippers scream so loudly the musicians can't be heard—are trying to overcome the scream barrier partly.

The hairy millionaires have set up a projector which flashes song titles and words on a small screen on the front of the stage. "One day, perhaps, we'll have things fixed up where the audience can hear us," said one of the group.

The Beatles are appearing at a London theater.

On leaving the theater, one girl said: "It was marvelous. I fainted three times."

Goren on Bridge

By CHARLES H. GOREN

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

Spades, A-6-3; Hearts, A-10-8-7-3; Diamonds, 9-7; Clubs, -8-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 Dia. Pass 1 Hrt. Pass

4 Hrts. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—What started out as a colorless holding has, in the light of partner's vigorous action, blossomed forth into a thing of beauty. Upon reevaluation your hand is worth 10 points at a heart contract and, since partner's bidding indicates about 21, you are in the slam zone. One forward step is called for and should take the form of a cue bid of four spades.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

Spades, 8-4; Hearts, Q-J-7; Diamonds, Q-J-6-3; Clubs, K-9-8-6.

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 Spd. Dbl. 1 N.T. ?

What do you bid?

A.—Double. Assuming partner to be sound, either East or West has exaggerated his values. You have nine points in high cards and partner has at least 13 which gives your side a decided edge in high card strength. Once you have announced your approximate values, partner should be able to assess the situation if one of the adversaries should attempt an escape.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

Spades, A-J-3; Hearts, K-6; Diamonds, J-6-5; Clubs, A-Q-9-6-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 Clb. 3 Clbs. Pass Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your partner has no strength or he would either have doubled West or made a free bid. The opponents assuredly have their signals crossed, and a double by you will only serve to wise them up. West apparently has the rest of the clubs and from your distribution it is apparent that East's long suit will represent a much better resting spot for their side.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

Spades, K-J-9-7-6-3; Hearts, A-J-9-8; Diamonds, A; Clubs, 10-7.

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 Spd. Pass 2 Dia. Pass

2 Hrts. Pass 3 Dia. Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Things aren't going your way, and it behooves you not to be stubborn. It is true that you have not yet shown that you have a good rebiddable spade suit, but there is a very grave doubt as to whether you can afford to do any more bidding. If partner doesn't like spades, you may be in very deep water. The better part of valor is to resign yourself to a short loss by passing three diamonds. And who knows, perhaps partner might even make it. Incidentally, we would have preferred a rebid of two spades after partner's two diamond bid.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

Spades, K-9-7-4-2; Hearts, K-10-3; Diamonds, A-J-9-6; Clubs, A.

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 Spd. Pass 2 N.T. Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this somewhat unbalanced hand the door should not be shut to a possible game contract in spades and the suggested call is three diamonds. If partner returns to spades, we would accept that suit as three notrump. We relax. A rebid of spades, should not be considered with a suit this weak.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

Spades, 4-2; Hearts, K-J; Diamonds, K-6-3; Clubs, A-K-Q-9-6-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 Clb. 1 Spd. 1 N.T. 2 Hrts.

What do you bid now?

A.—Three notrump. Your hand should produce seven or eight tricks and, since you can stop the hearts and partner has indicated that he can take care of the spades, fulfillment of a notrump game should prove routine.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

Spades, 6-2; Hearts, K-Q-5; Diamonds, A-J-9-5; Clubs, J-10-7-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 Clb. Pass 1 Dia. Pass

1 Hrt. Pass 3 Clbs. Pass

3 Spds. Dbl. ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Do not make the mistake of bidding three notrump. Partner was in position to make that call himself and declined to do so. Showing the heart support at this point will serve to clarify the picture for partner. Since you are giving a delayed raise he will know you have only three card support and will be in a better position to decide on the final contract.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

Spades, A-9-7-6; Hearts, 10-9-7-6; Diamonds, A-3; Clubs, A-K-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 Clb. Dbl. 2 Clbs. Dbl.

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. A rescue is not to be considered. Had there been a better spot available, partner would not have offered an immediate raise over the double. If his values fit well enough, you may make your contract even against a badly stacked enemy trump holding.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

by Jo Copeland

N-1301

Famous for her completely feminine designs, Jo Copeland has come through with a winner again. The sensational cut of the soft diagonal drape (with V opening front and back) is held on the left shoulder by two loops. At the same time the neckline is high and demure. The bodice is fitted and falls into line with the graceful skirt, which is bias in front and gently draped to the side. The skirt back has a gathered panel effect which is topped off with a bow from the narrow bias covered cording at the waistline.

An outstanding design for soft fabrics such as crepe, whether or plain. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Size 10: bust, 34; waist, 24; hips, 35; length, 16 1/2 inches. Size 12: bust, 35; waist, 25; hips, 36; length, 16 1/2 inches. Size 14: bust, 36; waist, 26; hips, 37; length, 17 inches. Size 16: bust, 38; waist, 28; hips, 39; length, 17 1/2 inches. Misses size 12 requires 3 3/4 yds. of 42 inch fabric for dress.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I've found a use for all the beautiful cards that usually go into the waste basket or are saved because we hate to throw them out. Some cards are just too beautiful to discard.

With all the coffee canisters now available, I pick out enough cards to go around a canister, cut out the pretty front of the card and paste it on the outside of the can.

I try to use the same size cards. I also cut out the "name" of the person who sent it and paste it on the bottom of each card. Then I apply shellac or clear adhesive-backed paper to make it permanent. It also keeps the cards clean.

My friends are pleased when they see their cards on my canisters. Try it! —Mary Spina

Gals:

Why can't we do this and call them Friendship Canister Sets? How lovely for a bride to take all her Shower cards and paste them on her canisters or those lovely coffee cans with the plastic lids? It would be a beautiful daily reminder of her friends' gifts.

This could also be done with cards received at baby showers, golden wedding parties, etc. etc.

Thanks, Mary. You're a real pal. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When overnight guests face a bewildering array of towels and washcloths on the rods in our bathroom, they seem very pleased to find their name pinned on the set for their use. They are equally delighted to see a small plastic drinking cup, out in plain sight, with their first name written on it with a grease marking pencil. —Marie

Dear Heloise:

Several years ago we lost three dresses and a suit due to fading in this manner. We learned our lesson the hard way. —W. V.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

SPRING TIME CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (UPI) — More than 100 million springs, ranging from thumb-nail size to some weighing over half a ton, have been manufactured by Alco Products, Inc. since the company produced its first spring here in 1914. Production originally was concentrated on railroad springs, but today includes those for giant missile systems, industrial machines, home appliances and electrical controls.

Industrial consumption has risen to 40 per cent of the total water supply. It takes 240,000 gallons to make one ton of acetate, 600,000 for a ton of synthetic rubber.

Santa Fe Does Not Want New Architecture

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Folks in Santa Fe just don't like new fangled architecture and bright lights. In fact, they have passed laws to prove it.

An ordinance, unique in the nation, was passed in 1953, setting up rigid building codes around the 250-year-old plaza of Santa Fe. For a dozen blocks, north and south of the plaza, only three building styles may be used—Pueblo, Spanish and so-called territorial.

In and out of courts since it was first written, the ordinance has caused contractors finally to toss in their towels. Even the design of a new state capital building for New Mexico had to be altered when it was found to be within the historic zone.

Also in the law is a strict code against store signs. "No sign shall flash, blink, revolve or seem to be in motion," the ordinance reads. Billboards within the zone, meanwhile, are as popular as a mad dog at a Sunday school picnic.

The ordinance, fostered by the historic-minded art colony and tourist-minded businessmen within the city, discourages most modern-minded builders before they get started.

The legal building material is stucco, styled to resemble the old adobe or sun-dried mud sides of Indian pueblos. The simulated adobe must cover 80 per cent of the building.

Pueblo style architecture, by far the most popular, is patterned after the Indian villages in the area. Smooth sided, flat roofed, studded with massive log roof supports, some of the city's largest buildings are patterned after the pueblos.

Territorial style architecture puts a row of bricks along the top edges of the buildings' walls. This brick frieze is believed to have been introduced by early American immigrants to New Mexico. The bricks were to keep rains from washing away the adobe walls.

Spanish style features the red tiled roof, deep windows and iron grill work found more often in California-Spanish architecture. In Santa Fe, popularity has dwindled in the Spanish style in the past two decades.

With all three styles, roofs must be flat. Skylights, air conditioning devices, flues and television aerials are okay, provided they are hidden from view.

The sign section of the ordinance, by far the most controversial, permits a shingle and that's about it. The tiny amount of bright lights within the historic zone were there before 1953.

MONTEVIDEO—Office buildings in the capital of Uruguay will be air conditioned with the help of a US firm.

EASING BABY INTO THE WORLD

Episiotomy is a common obstetrical operation that is done to hasten delivery of the baby and protect the mother from injury due to tearing of the parts.
Just as the baby's head appears, an incision is made into the lower edge of the opening of the birth canal. This increases the size of the opening and eases delivery.

Lacerations in the birth canal are noted frequently following the birth of a child. They occur anywhere along the passage—way—occasionally in areas involving important structures that are difficult to repair. This is avoided by doing an episiotomy, especially when a tear is likely to occur. The physician selects a site that is safe to cut and easy to repair.

Episiotomy is essential when the exit of the head is delayed because the opening (perineum) is thickened or scarred, or the baby is larger than average.
The same can be said when time is important and a rapid extraction is necessary to prevent harm to mother or child.

Following delivery and the repair of the incision, the area may swell and hurt for a few days. Heat and an analgesic are helpful at this time. Enzymes are said to be useful in reducing swelling and inflammation. Tablets containing Pa-pase were reported recently to be of value in cases of 59 women following delivery. Of the series, 44 per cent obtained marked relief, 49 per cent, average; and 7 per cent, none.

Papase is an enzyme extracted from the fruit of a tropical plant (Carica papaya) and is used in the prevention and treatment of swelling and inflammation resulting from a variety of injuries and allergies. Enzymes have taken the place of beefsteak in healing a black eye. They also are given to liquefy thickened secretions in respiratory disorders.

Several such enzymes are on the market. These have not been evaluated adequately, so remain controversial.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request!

X-RAYING SCARS

L. J. R. writes: Will X-ray treatment fade out acne scars?
REPLY

No. X-ray therapy is used now and then to bring the acute condition under control when less drastic treatments have failed.
Radiation does not remove scars or make them fade away; occasionally burns occur that are more serious than acne.
Scars are best removed via mechanical planing, utilizing a wire brush.

CLUMSY TEEN-AGER

S. K. writes: I am a boy of 14 and would like to improve my coordination because I'm tired of tripping and knocking over things. Is there a special exercise to help me.

REPLY

Participate in athletics and take a few dancing lessons.
Many teen-age boys are clumsy and coordination improves in time. To my knowledge, there are no charm schools for boys.

SNIFFING HABITS

Mrs. A. S. writes: I have read about the dangers of glue sniffing and wonder in inhaling spirits of ammonia numerous times a day is equally hazard-

REPLY

No. The glue used by sniffers contains trichlorethylene which makes it dry rapidly.
When inhaled, the individual becomes "high" or elated. Addition may follow.

PAIN IN THE SIDE

M. E. writes: Why do I develop a terrible pain in my side whenever I get a bad coughing spell?

REPLY

This may be caused by muscle strain.

COLORADO'S FASTEST STOCK SERVICE

New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weakened somewhat in dull trading early this afternoon.

There was no sign of the traditional year-end rally developing as the year's last week of trading began.

Granite City Steel, which joined in the spreading price increase for galvanized sheets, advanced slightly. U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin were up almost half a point.

The price rise of gold in London was reflected in gold mining stocks. American South African added a point and Dome picked up almost a point.

Comstat fell back a point. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon had fallen 5 to 322.3 with industrials off 6, rails off 5 and utilities up 1.

Among the chemicals, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide lost a point.

IBM dropped 2 points and General Electric lost a point.

The rails and drugs were mixed.

Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and Treasury bonds declined.

—I'd make a movie about a mixed-up Hindu and call it "Sikh Sikh."

—I'd build up the Jim Backus and Natiaie Schafer parts on Gilligan's Island, and plan eventually to make a feature film with those two. They have such a team potential they could make Ma and Pa Kettle look like small fry.

—I'd cast Sandra Dee and Debbie Reynolds in teen-age parts for a few more years. The two still look like little girls in their mothers' clothes when they do grown-up roles.

—I'd make a movie about a mixed-up Arabian boy and call it "Sheik Sheik Sheik."

—I'd remake "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" with The Dave Clark Five and hope for the best.

—I'd assign my best writers to create a property to team Cary Grant and Julie Andrews, that would make the old timers forget William Powell and Myrna Loy. And a remake of "The Thin Man" with those two might be a good idea.

—I'd make a movie about a mixed-up Asian country and call it "Sikkim Sikkim Sikkim."

WALL TRAIL or ALL A-BORED

Howard Christie, who has produced Wagon Train for its eight-year passage west, doesn't sound too optimistic about a ninth year.

"We'll know in January," he says.

But the possibility of its demise doesn't seem to bother the big, cheerful ex-football star. In fact, he seems a bit bored with the old show, and excited more about three other programs he's working on.

"Two will spin off from Wagon Train this season," he says.

"One is Boot Hill, which will have four young actors playing the three Earp brothers, and Doc Holiday. If Wagon Train goes off, Michael Burns may play young Virgil Earp.

"The other is Pierce's Landing, or maybe we'll call it Bend of the River, the story of a frontier.

"The third will spin off from the Kraft show, a program called Panama, which will be about the days there before the canal, when they had to cross the isthmus on foot."

Christie thinks obviously, that the western will always be big on television. And, in fact, he sees it coming on strong again in the next few years.

So you'd better buy a new saddle for the old bar-TV set.

Baker Should Keep Her Shirt On Say Scribe

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)

IF IT WERE MY STUDIO —

—I'd tell Carroll Baker that she's young yet, there's no rush to be a big star, she should keep her shirt on.

—I'd buy Mary Stewart's book, "The Rough Magic," and get the technicians who shoot Flipper to go to work on the dolphin scenes.

—I'd make a movie about a mixed-up Latin scholar and call it "Sic Sic Sic."

—I'd get Inger Stevens a stronger leading man for The Farmer's Daughter. It's a good show, but you can't believe it because of the weakness of the male lead.

—I'd quit trying to make a star of Mia Farrow on Peyton Place and concentrate, instead, on Bargar Parkins. This girl has fire and smoke, whereas the other one is still operating on sugar 'n' spice.

—I'd make a movie about a mixed-up Hindu and call it "Sikh Sikh."

—I'd build up the Jim Backus and Natiaie Schafer parts on Gilligan's Island, and plan eventually to make a feature film with those two. They have such a team potential they could make Ma and Pa Kettle look like small fry.

BOAT DRIVE-IN

HOUSTON (UPI) — A drive-in grocery for boats is fast gaining popularity among wives of houseboat owners.

Located below McKay Bridge on Lake Houston, the store has everything from fresh vegetables to fishing tackle, plus complete launching and docking facilities and marine white gasoline.

Student Gets To See Girl, After Donations

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Clayton Day Jr.'s Christmas wish, a visit with Megan Waldo, was fulfilled Saturday.

Day, a Yale freshman from Arlington, Va. flew into Reno late Christmas night on an airline ticket paid for largely with dimes he collected from fellow Yale students.

Day, 18, and Megan, 16, met on the liner Queen Elizabeth last summer, returning from Europe. Megan invited him to visit her.

Determined to make the trip over the Christmas holiday, Day took his mug and began going from room to room in Yale dorms, saying:

"My name is Clayton Day. I'm trying to get a dime from every guy at Yale so I can visit my girl."

The gimmick paid off and his mug ran over. Day received a number of letters with contributions as the fund-raising drive became known around the country. The total take was more than $300.

Day spent the early part of the Christmas vacation with his parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Clayton Day, in Arlington before flying here.

Fan mail addressed to "Art Linkletter's House Party" on the CBS Television Network requires the full-time services of four girls to process.

HANDY HATCHET

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A three-pound hatchet that automatically meters and injects a specific amount of chemical when struck into a tree is expected to be a boon to foresters.

American Forest Products Industries, Inc., said the hatchet can be used for chemically thinning out undesirable species, to kill tree stumps and to inject insecticides and fungicides directly into trees for disease and pest control without endangering other nearby vegetation.

Mao May Soon Step Down, Say Peking Reports

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung, last great figure of world communism, became 71 Saturday amid talk that he soon may step down as chairman of the Red Chinese party.

A Peking broadcast said Mao had cordial talks with members of a five-man Algerian military delegation in Peking but otherwise was silent on his activities.

At 71, Mao is idolized by many Chinese who regard him as the father of modern China. He is reviled by others.

Internationally, the stubborn, unyielding policies of violence and revolution he advocates have earned him the fear and enmity of not only the United States and some Western powers but the Soviet Union.

Poet, historian, classical scholar, author of works on guerrilla warfare, Mao towers head and shoulders above any other individual in international communism now. Khrushchev has been toppled from power in the Soviet Union.

There has been speculation, some of it originating in Communist circles in Peking, that Mao may step down from his powerful party chairmanship.

He is described as in precarious health, although not all accounts agree on this. Should he do so, his word still would carry weight with the party faithful.

For, in the last analysis, whatever China is today is the handiwork of this hard-headed son of a Hunan peasant.

In 1911, when Dr. Sun Yat-sen's revolutionaries had toppled the manchu from the celestial throne and established a republic, the 18-year-old Mao celebrated by cutting off his pigtail.

But the republic that Sun founded faltered and the country remained divided under dictatorial and warlord rule until the 1920s.

The backbone that Sun's wavering revolutionaries lacked was supplied by the newly successful Bolsheviks of the Soviet Union who sent them advisers and helped form the Kuomintang party along Communist lines.

At about the same time, also under Soviet patronage, Mao and a handful of intellectuals created the Chinese Communist party on a riverboat in Shanghai.

These two vital young forces, fused together, led a military march on North China which resulted in the overthrow of the northern warlords and appeared to bring national unity within their grasp.

But in 1927, the Kuomintang and Communists fell out and in the ensuing bloodbath Mao and his young revolutionaries went underground.

Mao, who led a "long march" retreat of thousands of miles from the Chinese coast to north-west China, became head of the party in 1935.

The Kuomintang, which had shied away from its Soviet mentors, turned toward the West for help.

The next event that contributed to the unification of China was the Japanese invasion of China. That menace brought the warring Communists and Nationalists together in a brief but effective alliance.

When World War II ended, the Communists controlled a third of China and soon, thanks to the thoughtfulness of withdrawing Soviet armies which left behind large stores of Japanese arms, were to take over all of Manchuria.

ESTATE PLANNING:

security for your family

If you are like most people, you have been too busy over the years to really think much about how you would like to have your property distributed or handled at your demise. Perhaps you had a will drawn up a few years ago, but does it fit your present circumstances?

Have you considered estate planning?

Estate planning involves a study of the impact of both the Federal Estate Tax and the Colorado Inheritance Tax upon the distribution of an individual's property. Wise planning of your estate by your lawyer can mean more security for your family—taxwise and in other respects as well.

For a more efficient and economical transferral of your estate to your heirs, see your lawyer. His advice and counsel can be invaluable.

Top Ten Basketball Teams Put Their Rating on Line Tonight in Tourneys

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eight of college basketball's Top Ten teams, led by Michigan and Wichita, must protect their high rankings in holiday tournaments tonight, but none is expected to have the in-law trouble that Coach Ladell Anderson of Utah State encountered in the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu.

Michigan, the No. 1 team, meets Manhattan in the first round of the Holiday Festival at New York. Second-ranked Wichita, which as lost only to Michigan, plays Villanova, one of nine major unbeaten, in the Quaker City semifinals at Philadelphia.

Six other teams play in five tournaments tonight while Minnesota No. 3, was scheduled to play an afternoon game, leaving sixth-ranked Duke as the only Top Ten team idle.

Utah State's Anderson was anything but idle Saturday night following his team's 94-91 overtime loss to the Hawaii Marines in a first-round game of the Rainbow tournament.

Upset with what he termed "poor officiating" Anderson rushed onto the floor immediately after the final buzzer and engaged in a midcourt conversation with one of the referees, Creighton Richards.

Suddenly, Jimmy Aiona, Richards' father-in-law, charged out of the stands, onto the floor and dropped Anderson with a right hook to the face.

His conversation ended, Anderson was taken to a hospital for treatment of a bloody nose and said

"It was just one of these things that can happen in the heat of battle. I was upset over some bad calls, and now I'm sorry about the whole incident."

Aiona, a retired referee who heads the local referees' organization, was arrested and charged with assault and battery after receiving a severe tongue-lashing from Mayor Neal S. Blaisdell of Honolulu, who witnessed the one-punch fight from the stands.

When the outburst finally was quelled, Wisconsin met Boston College and won 70-69 on Paul Morenz' jump shot with 14 seconds left. The Rainbows' last two opening round games are set for tonight.

Also on the schedule are games in 12 other major tournaments. Among the most interesting is the Quaker City Classic.

Wichita, 6-1 plays Villanova, 8-0, after annihilating Pitt 109-58 Saturday. Villanova defeated Penn, its Philadelphia neighbor, 52-47 in overtime.

In the other semifinal, seventh-ranked Illinois, 7-1 will try to halt St. Joseph's unbeaten string at eight. Illinois trampled NYU 102-79 while St. Joseph's whipped Holy Cross 82-63.

Michigan, 6-1, goes into the Holiday Festival as the favorite in a field of eight. The Wolverines, who lost to Nebraska, have not played since they beat Butler last Wednesday.

The Los Angeles Classic has two Top Ten teams — Minnesota and fourth-ranked UCLA, which has lost only to Illinois in seven games. The Bruins meet Arizona in a first round game tonight while Utah, 8-0, takes on Michigan State. Minnesota, 6-0, was paired with Washington in the afternoon.

One highly ranked team will fall in the Memphis State Classic at Memphis when eighth-ranked Indiana, 7-0, battles ninth-rated St. Louis, 6-1.

San Francisco, No. 5 and undefeated in six games, plays Pepperdine in the WCAC tournament at San Jose, Calif., and 10th-ranked Davidson opens with Alabama in the Charlotte, N.C., Invitational.

The Far West Classic continues tonight with Northwestern meeting Washington State and Army engaging Oregon State. Tennessee increased its unblemished record to 6-0 Saturday night by downing Portland 70-59 behind Ron Widby's 19 points and a zone defense.

Tennessee will meet Oregon, which upset Purdue 92-76 as Bill Jennings poured in 30 points. Oregon's come-from-behind rally that started late in the first half overshadowed the 40-point effort of Dave Schellhase.

Wichita rolled over Pitt in the Quaker City as Dave Stallworth scored 22 points in 26 minutes. The Panthers never were in the game after they tied it 2-2. The Shockers scored 60 points in the second half.

Villanova moved into the semifinal round on George Leftwich's one-handed shot and six straight free throws as Penn fouled in desperate attempts to get the ball.

HIT FROM BEHIND—Poul Lowe (23) San Diego Chargers fullback, was swung off his feet as he was hit from behind by Roland McDole (72) Buffalo Bills end, in second period action of the

AAU-NCAA Feud Limits Sugar Bowl Track Field

By DAVIS ZINMAN
NEW ORLEANS (P) — Sugar Bowl officials — whose track meet is the first casualty of post-Olympics AAU-NCAA war — aren't shedding any tears in public over their Olympics-depleted field.

"There's no use crying about something you have no control over," said meet director John Oelkers. "We've wound up with a good meet."

Sprinter Richard Stebbins of Grambling and 400-meters ace Theron Lewis of Southern — first Negroes to run in the year-end outdoor games — are stars of Tuesday's eight-event meet.

Bad luck has dogged the spiked show. Last year, the Sugar and Orange Bowl's track dates conflicted. Vaulters John Pennel and dash king Bob Hayes, courted by the Sugar people for their 30th annual games, ended up in the fledgling Miami carnival.

This year, the renewed feud between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association has forced the Sugar people — virtually at the 11th hour — to limit the meet to college runners.

Biggest headlines lost were Tokyo gold medal winners Fred Hansen in the pole vault; Mike Larrabee, 400 meters; and Bob Schul, 5,000 meters.

The pole vault had to be dropped. And so did invitations to such cinder greats as Ralph Boston, Dyrrol Burleson, Jim Grelle, Bill Dellenger, Blaine Lindgren, Billy Hardin, and Uli Williams.

Oelkers, who had the field in his pocket in September, had to start all over in mid-November. "Of course, I'm deeply disappointed at not being able to bring the Olympic stars here," said Oelkers. "This would have been the greatest meet ever for the Sugar people."

Clifford H. Buck, president of the AAU, said at Granby, Ohio, he hadn't received detailed word on the Sugar Bowl meet. But he felt "open competition could be held if the MacArthur plan were followed."

The late Gen. Douglas MacArthur's compromise authorized the AAU to be the only sanctioning body for open meets — that is between AAU and college runners.

But the NCAA feels it has this right. Meanwhile, the two unbending groups are boycotting each other. They're also aiming pot shots.

"It is tragic that the AAU refuses to participate in cooperative sanctioning with other U.S. sports bodies," said Walt Byers, NCAA executive secretary, in Kansas City.

LSU's Coach Attempts To Break Bowl Precedent

BY BEN THOMAS
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Charlie McClendon will be trying to break a precedent when his Louisiana State football Tigers clash with Syracuse in the 30th renewal of the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day.

McClendon will be the fourth man to coach a team in the Sugar Bowl after having appeared in the New Orleans post-season classic as a player.

The other three — Arkansas' Frank Broyles, Texas' Darrell Royal and former LSU coach Gaynell Tinsley — all lost when they brought their teams to the Sugar Bowl.

The 41-year-old McClendon, a soft speaking Arkansas native who never played football until he got to college after World War II, was a cornerback on Paul (Bear) Bryant's Kentucky team which upset national champion Oklahoma 13-7 in the 1951 Sugar Bowl.

McClendon still carries a scar from that game.

He recalled in an interview today how he got a cut over his right eye in the battle. "Billy Vessels swept to the right and then reversed himself. I thought I had him but he was getting further and further away. I made a driving tackle and cut my head on his shoe," said McClendon.

Jones Pleased With His Sooners' Drill Stints

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Gomer Jones gave the impression he was satisfied with the condition of his Oklahoma football team today with six practice sessions left before meeting Florida State in the Gator Bowl Saturday.

"They worked hard," the coach said of his players after a Sunday practice session and the first since Dec. 17 when they split for the Christmas holiday.

"We may have a little more team defense and team offense Monday afternoon," Jones said. "The offensive unit will be on offense full time and the defensive unit on defense full time."

It was different in the opening practice at Wolfson baseball park, just across the street from the Gator Bowl.

Individual and group drills took an hour. Then all 50 squadmen saw some offense and some defense in dummy team drills.

"I don't think they are in real good shape," Jones said, "but they will be in a couple more days."

It was clear he didn't want them at their peak too soon. Jones said he didn't see any need for practicing more than once a day and will follow pattern of one-hour morning meetings for instruction and films, plus 90 minutes of precision controlled work on the field each afternoon.

He hasn't an injury problem unless it is at defensive tackle. Glen Condren, who missed some late season games with a bad knee, appears recovered.

If Condren goes through practice without trouble, he will start at defensive right tackle. He will share game action with Jerry Goldsby, who began the season at left tackle, missed mid-season games with an injury and came back to duty just as Condren went out.

Bill Hill has won the defensive left tackle spot.

The first string backfield on offense demonstrated an impressive power running attack. Fullback Jim Grisham, halfbacks Lance Rentzell and Larry Brown and quarterback Bobby Page all showed power.

Six Post-Season Grid Outings Set for TV

By Dick Couch
Associated Press Sports Writer

While a quartet of seniors on Georgia's Sun Bowl winners looked forward to bright futures in professional football, storm clouds lingered over the Blue-Gray all-star game at Montgomery, Ala.

Armchair quarterbacks, meanwhile, savored the prospect of a television marathon New Year's Day and Saturday, when six classics — Rose, Cotton, Orange, Sugar, Gator and East-West Shrine — will be beamed nationally.

Ray Rismiller, Jim Wilson, Frank Lankiewicz and Wayne Swinford signed National Football League contracts last Saturday after leading the Bulldogs past Texas Tech 7-0 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

The Philadelphia Eagles signed fullback Lankiewicz, who scored the game's only touchdown on a two-yard plunge and 225-pound tackle Rismiller, their second-round draft choice. Wilson, a 245-pound tackle who spearheaded Georgia's tenacious defense in the Sun Bowl and was named the outstanding player in the game, and Swinford signed with the San Francisco 49ers.

Jim Zanios, Texas Tech's 210-pound fullback, agreed to terms with the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL.

At Montgomery, where Penn State quarterback Gary Wyden passed the Blue stars to a 10-6 victory over the Gray in the rain, game officials — facing a loss of prestige because of their segregation stand — pondered a possible lifting of the racial barrier which has cost them a national television contract.

A Blue-Gray source said Sunday he believes the future of the 27-year fixture will be insured only if Negro gridders are invited to participate.

"We're just hurting ourselves if we don't integrate," he said. "The Senior Bowl at Mobile is integrated as is all minor league baseball in Alabama. There's just no reason for us not to follow this course."

The National Broadcasting Co. discontinued its telecast of the game last year after officials refused to alter their racial policy.

Saturday's game, which drew a crowd of 16,000 and was televised regionally into six states on a special network, was a defensive battle decided by Wyden's 30-yard scoring pass to Bill Cronin of Boston College in the third period.

The touchdown gave the Yankees a 10-0 lead — Minnesota's Mike Reid had kicked a 28-yard field goal earlier — and offset a Gray score on VMI quarterback Bob Schweikert's five-yard pass to John Brotherton of Texas A&M.

The Orange Bowl pairing of Texas and Alabama, the 1963 and 1964 national champion, respectively, heads the New Year's bill and completes an NBC triple-header. The Miami attraction, to be played for the first time after dark, has an 8 p.m., EST, kickoff.

The Crimson Tide, unbeaten in 10 regular-season games, and the Longhorns, winners in nine of 10 starts, follow an afternoon card that matches Louisiana State, 7-2-1, and Syracuse, 7-3, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans; Arkansas, 10-0, and Nebraska, 9-1, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Michigan, 8-1, and Oregon State, 8-2, in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

The Sugar and Rose classics will be aired by NBC, starting at 2 p.m., EST, and 5 p.m., EST, respectively. CBS will carry the Cotton Bowl scrap, beginning at 2 p.m., EST.

Florida State, 8-1, meets Oklahoma, 6-3-1, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and the East and West All-Stars clash in the Shrine Bowl at San Francisco on Saturday. The FSU-Sooners game can be seen on ABC-TV, starting at 2 p.m., EST; the West Coast action, beginning at 5 p.m., EST, will be televised by NBC.

Black Hawks Making Run for First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three weeks ago today the Chicago Black Hawks were running a bewildered fifth in the National Hockey League race following a 4-1 setback to the visiting New York Rangers.

Celtics Pull Farther Out In NBA Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Even the Boston Celtics like to get some help now and then. Baltimore has been most obliging.

The Bullets obliged again Sunday night, knocking off Cincinnati 126-119. And the Celtics added another full game of their Eastern Division lead in their methodical march toward a seventh straight National Basketball Association title.

The mighty Celtics wiped out an 18 point deficit at Fort Wayne, Ind., and edged Detroit 112-106, extending their Eastern Division lead to six games over Cincinnati. St. Louis rallied for a 99-89 decision over the Knicks in New York in the only other game played Sunday.

Boston's victory was its sixth without loss against Detroit this season, and the Celtics' 11th in the last 12 games.

The Pistons had a 57-54 half-time advantage, and increased the lead to 18 before Boston started back, paced by Sam Jones. Jones missed his first four field goal attempts in the second half, then hit 12 of 14 the rest of the way and finished with 40 points.

John Havlicek nailed it down with a couple of jump shots, breaking a 104-104 deadlock with just over a minute left.

Baltimore scored its third victory in four starts against Cincinnati, snapping a five-game Royal winning string. Gus Johnson and Walt Bellamy each scored 32 points for the Bullets, off-setting a 48-point performance by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

St. Louis trailed 52-45 at half-time, then out-scored New York 22-5 opening the third period and wasn't headed again in breaking a four-game losing streak. Len Wilkens had 24 points for the winners, Jim Barnes 21 for the losers.

GROZA KICKS ANOTHER FIELD GOAL—Up went the ball from the tee of Cleveland Browns kicking ace Lou Groza (76) during the national Football League championship game with Baltimore Sunday. Groza's field goal—one of two—and three extra points ran his title game total to 49 points, tying the record set by Andy Robustelli of New York. (Associated Press Wirephoto)

Wind-Aided Third Quarter Factor In Cleveland's Championship Ride

By GEORGE BOWEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — You're the coach and your team is playing for the National Football League championship. It's a scoreless battle at halftime and when you return to the field you have the option of receiving the kickoff and moving against the wind or kicking and playing with the wind at your back.

What do you do?
Both Baltimore Collier of the Cleveland Browns and Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts, who were in that situation Sunday, agree you really have no choice. The best thing to do is take the ball.

But it didn't work out that way.
The Colts chose to receive, were stopped cold and the Browns, with the aid of a 30-mile an hour wind at their backs, rushed in 17 points in the third quarter and went on to a 27-0 victory.

"You've got to take the ball," said Shula after the game. "It's pretty hard to get it. But the wind was a big factor — that's what broke up the ball game."

They got us backed up in a corner at the closed end of the field and at the same time they got momentum."

They got the momentum from two punts by Tom Gilburg into the wind that traveled only 25 and 27 yards and made the Browns' job easier.

Collier agreed with Shula that you have to take the ball and pointed out that when the Browns had won the toss to start the game, they also elected to receive.

"In pro football, you have to take the ball if you have the choice," he said emphatically.

Most of the other discussion in the dressing room was over the shutout with the Colts bitter and the Browns proud.

"We shut them out, that's the best part," yelled defensive tackle Dick Modzelewski of the Browns.

"It was our best defensive game of the year," shouted captain Galen Fiss. "We had to count on our front four and knew that had to do it."

What about the Colts' failure to score?
"The worst came out in us and none of the best," said Alex Hawkins, the leader of the specialty teams, in as good a sum-up as was made in the quiet Baltimore dressing room. "It makes you sick to your stomach so that you want to get out and play 'em again for nothing."

Johnny Unitas, the Colts' passing wizard who gained only 95 yards in the air, refused to take refuge behind the wind.

"It was tough," he admitted, "but it didn't really bother me except on some of those sideline passes."

Shula had both words about the Browns and the Colts.

"They did a heck of a job," he said, "but when you say that you also have to mention our lack of offense. We ruined drives by giving up the ball on fumbles and interceptions. We knew they had a fine offense, but teams had moved on their defense."

Then Shula commented on his offense.

"We had zero points on the scoreboard. I wasn't satisfied with anyone."

"I can't think of anyone who didn't have a good game," said Collier.

Collier stayed with the Browns until 1954, then returned to his home state as head coach to succeed Paul Bryant at the University of Kentucky.

During his eight-year stay with the Wildcats, Collier had a young assistant who, he said, had the makings of a fine pro football coach. He was Don Shula, head coach of the Baltimore Colts.

Brown asked Collier to come back in 1962 and he did. That year the Browns had their second worst season (7-6-1) in 18 years of professional football.

Art Modell, who bought the club in 1961, decided to change coaches.

He named Collier and it was typical of the man that he didn't accept until he first talked to Brown — his friend for 15 years.

Collier kept the assistant coaches, adding Dick Jones to replace Dick Evans, who went to Philadelphia. This season he added Nick Skorich, to whom Collier gives much of the credit for improving the Browns' defensive line.

Collier is a bug on detail, strategy and execution. During a chalk-talk he can diagram a play as fast as two nimble minks playing tic-tac-toe. He can quote the odds on how many times a team will score when they get the ball and how often it can be expected to lose the ball on fumbles and interceptions.

He also gave the team something observers felt was missing the last couple years — a pride in itself. After the Browns won the Eastern Division title in New York, one player pointed to Collier and said, "we wanted to win it for that man."

Surrounded by newsmen Sunday, Collier fielded their questions on the fly, and, as has been his policy this season, didn't single out anyone for special praise.

Umps' Squabble Hampers Tourney

HONOLULU (AP) — A squabble over assignment of officials threatened to disrupt further the brawl-scarred Rainbow Classic basketball tournament today.

Utah State Coach Ladell Andersen was slugged by Jimmy Aiona, 46-year-old executive secretary of the Hawaii chapter of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials after the first game of the tourney here Saturday night.

Chuck Leakey, tournament director, removed Aiona Sunday as head of officials for the Rainbow Classic.

"Aiona has been relieved of his duties in this tournament," Leakey said. "This was a hard thing, for us to do. Over the years, Jimmy has done a great deal for basketball in the islands but his action Saturday night leaves us no other choice."

Aiona claimed that Leakey doesn't have the power to remove him and indicated there might be an officials' boycott of the tournament which resumes with a doubleheader tonight.

"It's a real squabble," said Red Rocha, former National Basketball Association star and now head coach at the University of Hawaii which is sponsoring the classic. "I don't know what's going to happen now," Rocha added.

It all started after the opening game of Saturday night's first round doubleheader when Andersen approached referee Creighton (Fuzzy) Richards to complain about "poor" calls in the Aggies 94-91 overtime loss to the Hawaii Marines.

Andersen was talking to Richards at center court when Aiona, who had been seated at the scorer's table, came up to join the discussion.

Aiona put his arm around Andersen apparently to lead him away from Richards, but then decked the Utah State coach with a right hook.

"He gave me a couple of elbows in the ribs," Aiona said, "and also was calling me all kinds of names. I don't stand for that."

Aiona, who retired as an active official at the end of last season, is Richards' father-in-law.

Aiona was at the scorer's table to make a critique on the officiating and also to check on the operation of the new scoreboard at Honolulu International Center Arena.

"I didn't know he had any connection with the tournament," Andersen said. "I thought he was just a spectator."

"He said something to me and I told him this was none of his business. I turned away to talk to Richards and the next thing I knew I was being helped off the court and players from both teams charged into the midst of the melee."

College Chess Champs Compete In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The players strike boldly, then retreat across the field: spectators, breathless, peer intently as the final seconds tick away, then—

A touchdown? Goal? Basket? No, one player resigned. He lost his queen, his remaining rook was in trouble, both bishops fell and his king, alas, was cornered.

Exciting? To chess players, yes indeed. The handful of chess-playing spectators love it. That's the action, er, the competition, here at the National Intercollegiate Chess Championships.

Each team, representing institutions such as Columbia University, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Los Angeles State College and East Los Angeles Junior College, plays seven rounds — of up to our (yawn) hours each.

The game isn't all concentration, although most of the time is spent meditating, somehow.

While one player plots his next move, his opponent may be up watching other games, chewing on a hamburger or taco sipping a cola or coffee. When it's his turn, the other player may walk around with a hamburger and coffee, or he may wish to think some more.

Despite the popular notion that chess is a quiet game, it isn't necessarily so.

LIFT TRAVEL BAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has lifted a nearly year-old order barring dependents from accompanying civilian and military personnel assigned to the sprawling Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba.

Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, announced the end of the ban Friday. He said that dependents would be able to begin traveling to the base again "effective immediately."

Tournament director Gordon Barrett breaks things up now and again with: "All right, it's getting kind of noisy in here. We'll have to have a little more quiet. By the way, which team was it that asked for some aspirin?"

Why so noisy? It's hard to be anything but noisy with 20 teams participating. There are four members on each team, not counting the alternate members who came along for the ride, and that's a lot of chess players.

Get about half of them up running around munching hamburgers, kibitzing and arguing in whispers, and that's a lot of noise.

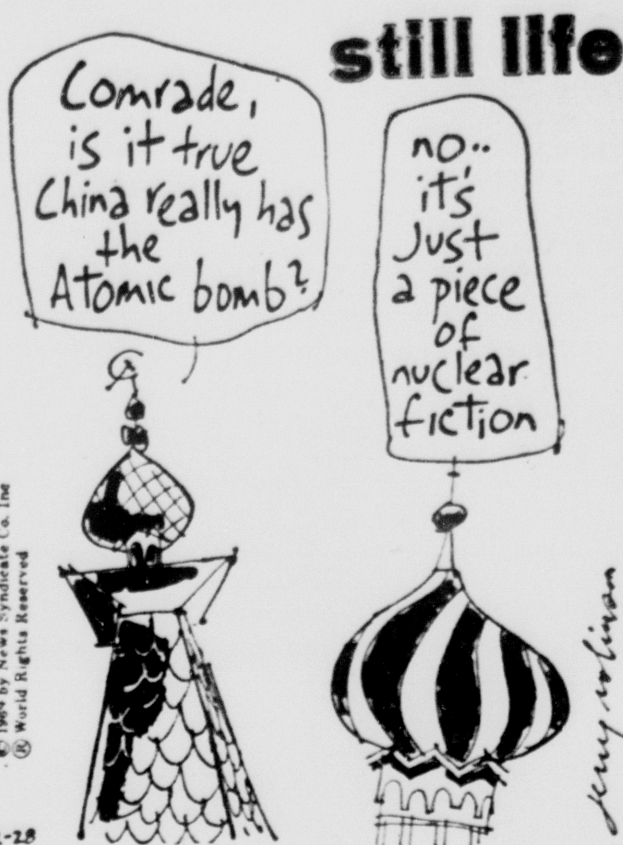

It can't compare, however, to the noise of other college sports.

Why? Well, there aren't any cheerleaders, song girls, grandstands, and there aren't many spectators. The spectators are the quietest ones there, obviously not wishing to derail anyone's train of thought.

Besides, they speak a language of their own:

"Paw to the king four."
"Paw to the king three."
"King's knight to the king's bishop three."
"Queen's knight to the queen's bishop."
And so on, ad infinitum.

Business Expansion Rate Being Eased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The group's annual forecast said, "It is important to recognize that a desirable rate of economic growth cannot be taken for granted."

This warning light was flashed Sunday by the National Planning Association, a privately supported research organization.

U.N. Crisis Is Reaching Crucial Stage

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Negotiators at the United Nations reached a crucial stage today in their efforts to head off a Soviet-U.S. showdown over Russian refusal to pay peacekeeping assessments.

The negotiators hoped to work out some agreement before the assembly's next meeting, scheduled for Tuesday morning. The Security Council cannot function after Thursday — New Year's Eve — unless agreement is reached on the basic issue or unless two disputed council seats are filled without a vote so as to avoid a challenge of the Soviets' right to vote.

The Soviet Union has refused to pay assembly assessments to finance the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping operations because it contends the Security Council alone has the right to start and finance such operations. It is more than two years behind in its total assessments.

The United States says that if a vote on anything is held in the assembly, the Soviet Union must suffer the penalty set out in Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which states that any member two years behind in assessments shall have no vote in the assembly.

To avoid a showdown, there has been no voting since the assembly convened Dec. 1. All necessary business has been done by general consent. Diplomatic sources, said however, Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana had failed to get agreement to elect Security Council members the same way.

There is no problem concerning two of the four seats that become vacant at the end of the year on the 11-nation council, Uruguay and the Netherlands are unopposed candidates for the seats held by Brazil and Norway.

Delegates were hopeful some way would be found to get around Indonesia's demand to be allowed to vote against Malaysia, which is otherwise unopposed to replace Czechoslovakia.

They said Quaison-Sackey had failed to resolve a contest between Jordan and Mali for Morocco's seat. They said Mali had rejected his suggestions that a preliminary informal poll outside the assembly decide which candidate would be elected by acclamation in the assembly.

Chief of Vets' Affairs Is Veteran, Too

TOKYO (AP) — South Viet Nam's two top civilian officials announced today they hope to "find a fitting solution to escape from the present crisis" resulting from the partial coup by younger leaders of the armed forces.

A joint communique issued by Chief of State Phan Khanh Suu and Premier Tran Van Huong did not repudiate the action of the young generals. But it said the two officials are "awaiting full civilian government to avoid disappointing the people's expectations."

The communique was published by Viet Nam Presse, the official Saigon news agency.

The communique said that when Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh turned over full power on Oct. 27 to a civilian administration, "the nation had many hopeful prospects to escape from chaos, and progress towards genuine democracy."

The military purge of Dec. 20, however, shook the foundation of the civilian government and gave great concern among the whole people, the two officials continued.

Woolworth Donahue Weds Wife No. 3

CALVERTON, N.Y. (AP) — Woolworth Donahue, 51, married wife No. 3, actress Mary Hartline Carlson, 36, in a private ceremony at his Long Island estate Saturday, the Daily News said today.

Donahue, a cousin of Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, was last wed to Judith (Baby Doll) Church, a cocktail waitress whom he met in a Palm Beach, Fla., nightclub. They were married in 1960 and divorced last year.

It was the third marriage for Miss Hartline. Her first male, Chicago attorney George H. Barnard, and she were divorced. Her second husband, business executive George Alfred Carlson, died two years ago.

A native of Hillsboro, Ill., she was voted Chicago's No. 1 career girl and "Chicago Television Queen" at the time she was leading a band on the Sunday afternoon network television show, "Super Circus," in the mid-1950s.

Family of Five Killed In Crash of Airplane

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — A family of five was killed Sunday night when their small plane crashed into redwood trees in the rugged Santa Cruz Mountains 65 miles south of San Francisco.

The victims, of San Mateo, Calif., were identified as Lee R. Smith, 32, the pilot, and his wife, Louise, 28, and their children Kim, 6, Cheryl, 4, and Stephen, 2.

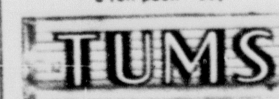

Witnesses said all five were hurled from the single-engine plane when it hit the ground. Gaily wrapped Christmas gifts were strewn about the hillside.

Three Generations Born on Christmas

ALNWICK, England (AP) — Noel Cassie was born on Christmas 52 years ago.

His daughter Carol was born on Christmas 23 years ago.

Carol — now Mrs. John Sergeant — gave birth to a 7-pound son this Christmas.

Said a gynecologist:

"The odds on three generations of the same family all being born on Christmas Day must be five or six million to one."

The Sergeants haven't decided on a name for their Christmas boy, Nicholas — after the patron saint of Christmas — is being considered.

MORE INCOME, HIGHER INSURANCE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans who bought life insurance in 1963 tended to have higher incomes and to buy larger policies than in the previous year, says the Institute of Life Insurance.

An analysis of ordinary life insurance purchases last year shows 24 per cent of the new policies were bought by people with incomes of $7,500 or more, compared with 21 per cent in 1962. About 34 per cent of the policies bought last year provided $10,000 or more life insurance, compared with 32 per cent of the policies bought in 1962.

BAY PARKING

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI) — Parking problems have become so acute here that a vast area of Durban Bay is to be drained to provide parking for 11,000 automobiles.

The proposal has been approved in principle by the City Council. In addition, to ease the critical parking problem, the city's two main streets will be cleared of parking bays which will be replaced by loading zones. Motorists will commute between the city center and the parking areas by a free bus shuttle service.

Monroney Says U.S. Will Win Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okl., believes the United States eventually will win the war in Viet Nam and that abandoning it "would be an act of idiocy."

He did not estimate how long the war would last but at one point he said 20 or 30 years meant little to the Communists.

Monroney, who has just completed a three-week Asian tour, was interviewed Sunday night on the CBS radio and television program, "Face the Nation."

India Denies Charges By Pakistan Chiefs

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Defense Ministry spokesmen today denied Pakistan's charge that Indian troops are using American-made weapons in clashes with Pakistani troops along the cease-fire line in Kashmir.

U.S. military aid was granted India in 1962 with the understanding it would not be used against Pakistan.

Escaped Killer Still Being Sought

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — The one man remaining at large of seven who tunneled to freedom from the Washington State Penitentiary Nov. 22 is a young killer described by Warden Bob Rhay as "the last man in the world you would take along on a prison break."

"He didn't know the underworld," Rhay said over the weekend regarding Donald Mesaros, 24. "The only reason the others took him along is that he was in the same cell with three of them."

Mesaros was last seen in Portland, Ore., Nov. 27 when police captured Neil Wallen, a Spokane killer. Mesaros, holed up at a cheap hotel with Wallen, broke away and disappeared. Two escapees, Harold Thomas, 38, serving life for murder, and Richard Loux, 26 convicted of automobile theft were recaptured Nov. 24 in Payette, Idaho.

Arthur St. Peter, 37, was picked up while dozing in a stolen truck near Colfax, Wash., about 70 miles northeast of Walla Walla.

John L. Mullenix, 35, a robber, was nabbed in Denver Dec. 8.

Vertis James Barrett, 35, was the latest to be arrested. Ironically, he was also the one with the most distinctive identifying characteristic. He has only one arm; the other was shot off in a previous escape try. Barrett was arrested Dec. 14 in a Boise, Idaho, hotel.

Mesaros was sentenced to life imprisonment April 7, 1962, for the first-degree murder of Charles R. Johnson, 60, a Seattle service station operator, during a $35 holdup.

Mesaros, 5 feet 11 inches and weighing 143 pounds, worked in Seattle as a messenger for the Boeing Co. He was born in Pennsylvania. His parents now live in Fairbanks, Alaska. His father is an automobile body and fender man.

"He's a hard guy to describe," Warden Rhay said. "The best word is nondescript." "He always had his nose in a law book in the library here. He seemed to be looking for an angle for a new trial."

Socialist Widens His Lead in Rome

ROME (AP) — Deputy Premier Pietro Nenni, a Socialist backed by the Communists, widened his lead in the Italian presidential race today as Parliament took a 20th unsuccessful ballot.

Nenni's Socialists, the Communists and the small Socialist Party of Proletarian Unity joined to give the former Stalin Peace Prize winner 385 votes, his highest total since the unprecedented marathon balloting began 13 days ago.

Foreign Minister Giuseppe Saragat, a Democratic Socialist backed by the leaders of Italy's divided Christian Democrat party, slipped to 323 votes — 19 less than he received Sunday.

A total of 492 votes is necessary for election.

Young Escapee From East Germany Shot

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) — A man trying to escape from East Germany was shot and probably killed this morning by East German border guards. West German border police reported.

The report said the East German guards spotted the man shortly after dawn and opened fire with submachine guns. He lay motionless in the snow for some time before the East Germans carried off the body.

President Gives Foreign Policy Top Priority

By KARL R. BAUMAN
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson boosted foreign policy to a top priority spot on his schedule today.

He also planned to get in more work on the federal budget and his State of the Union message.

Associates said Johnson intends to devote considerable time today and during the remainder of the week to reviewing U.S. relations with nations around the world, including policy on loans, aid and cultural exchanges.

A source close to Johnson said he is closing out the year with a rather optimistic view of most of the world situation despite the problems in Viet Nam and Congo.

He is known, for example, to feel that relationships with the Soviet Union are less antagonistic than they have been at times in the past and sees fewer crises than have plagued the world in recent years.

He feels relations with eastern Europe have improved and that the North Atlantic Alliance is in better shape than it has ever been.

Johnson is known to be pleased about what he regards as improved relations with nations of the Western Hemisphere, with Fidel Castro's those in the armed forces, but Communist dictatorship in Cuba added.

As part of his efforts to bolster relations with various nations, the President is working on dates for visits from a large number of chiefs of state during the coming months. These visits are expected to average about two a month during the next year.

In addition, Johnson is known to be considering the appointment of a large number of new ambassadors. It was indicated as many as 15 or 20 posts might be involved.

The State of the Union message, the first of the "big three" messages going to Congress in January, is "pretty well bracketed out," a qualified source said, and the actual writing has been started.

Work also is well along on the budget, but some major decisions remain to be made by Johnson. These include the amount of money to be asked for what the President calls his "antipoverty program," whether to propose a pay increase for government civilian workers and the amount of an education package.

In a letter to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara released for publication Sunday, Johnson said he wanted the last vestige of racial discrimination ended in the armed forces.

He told McNamara the Defense Department has "done an excellent job in resolving many aspects of the general problem of discriminatory treatment of sphere, with Fidel Castro's those in the armed forces," but Communist dictatorship in Cuba added.

"I would hope that the momentum already achieved would continue until every last vestige of the problem is eliminated."

Johnson wrote McNamara in connection with the filing of a final report by the President's Commission on Equal Opportunity in the Armed Forces. The by Gerhard A. Gesell, Washington attorney, dealt with discrimination in facilities near overseas bases and in the National Guard.

The committee said progress has been made in integration of national Guards units, but much remains to be done.

The committee described racial discrimination in public accommodations and housing near bases as "particularly acute in Germany and certain areas of the Far East." It said commanders should take vigorous action to eliminate patterns of segregation and discrimination affecting troops off base.

Johnson attended services Sunday at St. Barnabas Episcopal church in Fredericksburg. He was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Birge Alexander of Fort Worth, Tex.

After the services they visited the graves of Joseph W. and Ruth A. Baines, the President's maternal grandparents, in the Fredericksburg community cemetery.

Late Saturday Johnson slipped away from his ranch to attend funeral services for R. S. Chambers, 80, in Mart, a central Texas town of 2,500. Chambers had been a Democratic party worker.

Over the weekend, Johnson filled three major government jobs. 1. James S. Gleason Jr., resigned as administrator of veterans affairs to return to the First National Bank in Chicago as first vice president. Johnson named William J. Driver to succeed him.

Driver, 45, has been deputy administrator of the VA and becomes the first career worker to hold the post.

2. Joseph P. McMurray resigned as chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to become President of Queens College in New York. Johnson named John E. Horne, a member of the board for the past 18 months, to succeed McMurray. Horne formerly headed the Small Business Administration.

3. John A. Carver Jr. of Boise, Idaho, got a recess appointment as undersecretary of interior. Carver has been assistant secretary since Jan. 30, 1961. As undersecretary he succeeds James K. Carr, who resigned last July 15.

Johnson Seeks New Faces for Sub-Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported satisfied with his Cabinet for now but is looking for some new faces for sub-Cabinet ranks.

That was the word Sunday from a source close to the President, as Johnson instructed his talent scouts to look both within and outside the government for men and women qualified for high-level jobs.

Although "there will be plenty of exceptions," the source said, "a good number" of the resignations formally submitted by undersecretaries and assistant secretaries at the beginning of a new administration will be accepted by the President.

Among the exceptions are two men Johnson is known to think well of — Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The President hopes to promote men from within government service — as he did Saturday by promoting William J. Driver from deputy administrator to veterans administrator.

Johnson plans to announce soon his choice for deputy attorney general — a job that has been vacant since Nicholas Katzenbach became acting attorney general Sept. 3. Still unanswered is whether Katzenbach will become permanent attorney general.

Johnson already has decided on how to fill at least one of two vacant undersecretaryships in the Treasury. He is withholding the announcement until a routine security check is completed.

The source said reports that former Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric will replace John A. McCone as director of the Central Intelligence Agency are wrong. The source said Johnson has never had any indication that McCone may be leaving the job.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon reportedly is anxious to return to private life. Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges resigned Dec. 16 and Johnson named John T. Connor to take his place.

ADOPTED CHILDREN

MOSCOW (UPI) — The family of a Uzbek blacksmith identified as Shamakmudov may be the most multi-national in the world, the Tass news agency reported Saturday. It said he and his wife adopted 14 children of soldiers killed in World War II including Uzbeks, Russians, Jews, Tartars, Moldavians and Gypsies.

Maid of Cotton Title Twenty Beauties Seek

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Twenty young beauties vying for the honor of Maid of Cotton begin a frantic two-day schedule of interviews, photograph sessions, public appearances and social events today.

Judges will select the winner on the basis of such factors as personality, social poise, intelligence, modeling ability and family background.

"My advice, sir-get DE-ICER!"

It's that time of the year again—moisture can collect in your gas line, freeze, choke off the flow of fuel to the engine and stop you cold. That's gas line freeze, and there are two ways about it. You can be towed in and thawed out. This takes time. This takes money. Or you can use American. Brand Gasolines regularly. They contain the real thing—DE-ICER—to prevent gas line freeze. No extra cost to you. Standard Oil Dealers have said it before and they say it again: "My advice, sir-get DE-ICER!"

You expect more from Standard and you get it

"DE-ICER" is the trademark for Standard's gas line anti-freeze additive.
